TWO BREAK JAIL SHORTLY AFTER ARREST

It Sure Is Tough Keeping Track of Nobile, Says Will

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 11.—It's been a terrible thing, those airship men up north getting lost.

But I want to tell you it's been pretty near as bad a hardship on us here trying to keep track of the whole thing.

Who was lost? Who was found? Who is lost hunting who was lost?

Who was lost hunting for those that were searching for those who were lost hunting the original rescuers? That North Pole from what little I can gather is kinder overrated anyhow.

If these brave men would devote their time and energy to electing a good Democrat, that wouldn't advance science, but it would help a race of people get some post offices.

Yours for science that pays,
WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Work on the tower of the new main building of Westminster college is progressing to such an extent that when one comes into view of New Wilmington from the top of Furnace hill, it is visible among the trees of the college campus. The new main building, a large structure of stone, is a most imposing edifice. When the campus improvement is completed, so that the new dormitory and the new main building, as well as the magnificent United Presbyterian church are in a continuous group, Westminster will provide a mighty appealing group of college buildings.

Sheriffs of Pennsylvania who have been attending the state convention at Conneaut Lake are in an embarrassing predicament this morning. Reports from Crawford county via press wires indicate that the Crawford county authorities made a visit to the convention session yesterday and charge that there was quite a large amount of booze found. Crawford county authorities are to be commended for their action.

With its delegations at Mt. Gretna, at Fort Washington, at the Boy Scout camp, at the Y. M. C. A. camp and the Y. W. C. A. camp and with large numbers occupying summer cottages New Castle is at the present time quite well represented in the exponents of taking advantge of the great out of doors.

Another convention comes to New Castle. The state convention of the Post Office Clerks, which has just been concluded at Reading, decided to come to New Castle in 1929. This city will be glad to welcome the delegates and to help make the convention a real success. New Castle's fame as a convention city is rapidly spreading throughout the state. Few cities of like size in the nation can boast of convention facilities like those now possessed by New Castle, Pa Newc opines.

There was every indication this morning that New Castle was in for another blistering hot July day. So far there have been few reports of persons suffering seriously because of the heat, although in the big industries of the city the torrid days make it uncomfortable for the workmen.

More improvements are planned for The Castleton, says Manager John L. Slack. An order has been placed for more large electric fans which will be placed in the coffee shop and the dining room. And then, in the near future, the management contemplates buying an individual fan for each of the guest rooms.

When a man is married, and when his wife deserts him to go to the country, he is usually disconsolate. In fact, he moons about the house like nothing human, as Funnyman Mayer would say. Last evening Pa Newc in his small futile way, tried to cheer such a man. And between limberger sandwiches and other things, the deed was done. The married man bemoans the fate of the summer bachelors. But it was not long ago that he was bewailing the fate of a married man.

Two Prisoners Make Escape From City Jail

Two Negro Prisoners Break Out Of City Lock-Up Early This Morning

PRY BARS APART ON TOP OF CELL

Had Been Arrested On Charge Of Transporting Liquor Few Hours Before

William Scott and Roy Petty, alias Roy Pettway, negroes, arrested last midnight by Officers Moore and Flinner on South Diamond way, between South Jefferson street and Warner's Row, on suspicion of having delivered a five-gallon container of moonshine found by the officers, did not remain long behind the bars of the New Castle city jail.

It was about 1:30 o'clock this morning that it was discovered that they had forced their way up through the iron rods at the top of No. 3 cell in which they had been placed after their arrest. Officer Hanna was returning to the office up Sycamore way, when he noticed the negroes after their escape and gave chase, one of the negroes going through between the buildings at Miller's bakery and the other out East North street and up Rebecca way, Hanna following the latter to Rebecca way.

Seeing that he was making no progress, Officer Hanna returned to the police station and he and Officer Dukes started out in the police car searching for the negroes. Youngstown was notified and all points covered but without success.

Youngstown police authorities stated today that they had the two men answering the description under arrest about June 30. They also gave the same or similar names.

Sergeant G. C. Syling inspected the jail at 1 a. m. and everything was all right then. Later he was busy for some time making long distance calls concerning the missing boy, Pericles Askounes, when apparently the two negroes made their escape. Officer Hanna informed him of their escape when he came in for assistance in chasing the missing negroes.

Officers John Moore and Harry Flinner were walking their beat on South Diamond way between South

CRAWFORD COUNTY OFFICERS RAID SHERIFF'S CONVENTION REPORT SEIZURE OF LIQUOR

(International News Service)

CONNEAUT LAKE, Pa., July 11.—Delegates to the Pennsylvania state sheriff's convention who were guests today of Sheriff Tom Sterrett, of Erie, on a projected motor trip to Canada, had only one topic of conversation—the charge of District Attorney Stuart Culbertson, of Crawford county, that his two-man raid on a session in a local hotel yesterday revealed drunkenness and liquor prevalent.

Culbertson and County Detective John L. Laley descended on a room in which the former said there were nearly two score men, being served liquor by a hotel bell boy.

According to Culbertson's story, Laley and he were surrounded by a miniature riot, in which he said he was forced to knock one man down, lift another over a table, and finally managed to escape with "evidence" and a prisoner, Robert Clark, hotel bell boy.

Culbertson said that the scene which followed the "raid" was such that had there been more in his raiding squad, he would have made a mass arrest and charged the group with disorderly conduct.

According to the district attorney, he was threatened, and bottles flew in all directions when they attempted to gather evidence.

Clark was arraigned before Justice of the Peace A. G. Burgoyne, of Conneaut Lake Park, and held in $500 bail.

Sheriff Tom Sterrett, of Erie, was quoted as saying that the entire episode was a local political move, and

Convention To Come Here For 1929 Sessions

CITY IS SELECTED AT READING MEETING

Thomas L. Donegan Of This City Is Secretary-Treasurer Of Organization

New Castle has been chosen as the place for the 1929 convention of the Pennsylvania Federation of Postoffice Clerks, reports Thomas L. Donegan of the New Castle office, who with Robert J. McMinn, returned home this morning from Reading, where this year's convention was held on Sunday and Monday.

Donegan Officer

McMinn attended the convention as a delegate from the local office, while Donegan went as an officer of the convention, having been re-elected to the position of secretary and treasurer last Monday for another term.

According to Mr. Donegan, approximately 200 persons, attended the sessions, including delegates and visitors.

Donegan and McMinn motored east to the convention city, leaving New Castle Saturday morning and arriving in Reading Sunday noon. On the return trip the two left Reading about noon Tuesday, arriving in this city early this morning.

The convention opened at 4:30 p. m. Sunday, at which session committees were appointed so that everything would be clear for the main business session on Monday morning. Mr. McMinn, who accompanied Mr. Donegan, was honored by being nam-

Fear Marooned Men Are Doomed

No Word From Five Survivors Of Italia On Ice Floes For Two Days

ICE IS MELTING; CONDITIONS WORSE

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 11.—Grave fears were held today that the five marooned survivors of the lost dirigible Italia are doomed to die amid the icy wastes north of Spitzbergen.

Warmer weather has set in in the northlands and the ice floes are breaking up. It is believed that relief planes will be unable to make any further landings on the floe where the men are encamped because of the thaw.

However, the ice has not yet sufficiently broken up to permit access by ships. The soviet ice-breaker Krassin is reported hemmed in by the ice about 31 miles south of the encampment. It may be necessary for the Krassin to turn back and make another attempt to reach the men from the northwest by way of Hinlopen strait.

The fact that the marooned men have not been heard from by radio for more than two days adds to the fears for their safety. According to Lieut. Lundborg, the Swedish aviator who was rescued from the ice floe after being marooned with the other five men for 13 days, Giuseppe Biagi, the Italia's radio operator, was suffering from high fever when he left. It is believed possible that Biagi is now too ill to operate the radio set.

The four other marooned men are Lieut. Alfred Viglieri, who is in command; Felice Trojani, Prof. Francisco Behounek and Natale Ceccioni, chief mechanic of the Italia, Lundborg revealed. Ceccioni, who suffered a broken leg when the Italia crashed on the ice on the morning of May 25, was in a serious condition when Lundborg left

New Fire Station Nearly Ready

NEW CENTRAL FIRE STATION, SOUTH JEFFERSON STREET.

The new fire station erected by the city to house the Central Fire department, and located on South Jefferson street is about completed.

The building is modern in every way and is made to provide quarters for the large number of firemen in the Central department also to house more equipment than the present East street building.

In the new fire station will be the fire engine, aerial ladder truck and fire chief's car, now in the East street station and in addition the new pump and ladder truck recently ordered. The latter is to be an emergency machine that will answer alarms in all parts of the city.

Exact time of occupancy of the new station has not been made due to the fact that the time of arrival of the new apparatus is not yet known. It is expected that the new station will be in use in a few weeks however.

No arrangements have as yet been made by city council for use of the East street building which is to be abandoned for fire department purposes.

COURT REFUSES TO OPEN CAPT. LOEWENSTEIN'S WILL

(International News Service)

BRUSSELS, July 11.—The will of Capt. Alfred Loewenstein, Belgian financier who disappeared from his plane while flying across the English Channel, has been found, but the surrogate judge here has refused to open it until he has received official confirmation of the banker's death, it was learned today.

The judge did not flatly refuse to issue a certificate of death, but he simply shelved the matter until he received a report from the French and British authorities with the following statement:

"Loewenstein was flying in an English plane over French territorial waters. It is a much simpler matter for the English and French authorities to invesigate the case."

It had been expected here that great difficulty would be encountered in locating the will. No estimate of the estate left by Loewenstein was made public.

Funeral services for Loewenstein will be held by his family here today.

New Rediscount Rate In Chicago

Move Against Tremendous Speculatice Use Of Money In U. S.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Reaching a record figure since August 1922, the Chicago Federal Reserve bank went on a rediscount rate of 5 per cent today.

Federal Reserve Board officials declined comment, but it was anticipated that unless a marked change occurs in the financial markets, most of the Reserve banks would be on the new rate level within a few months.

Since the boost increase the cost of Reserve bank credit to the member banks, the latter undoubtedly will pass along the pressure of higher-cost money to the borrowing public, to be reflected in higher open-market money rates and closer scrutiny of loans.

The rate increase, in the heart of the agricultural district, comes at about the time of the beginning of the year's movement of farm crops, and for this reason may have a widespread effect.

Officials interpreted the beginning of the upward movement of rates, the third refluctuation of this character since the first of the year, as a new move on the part of the Reserve system against the tremendous speculative use of the money.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Steadily accumulating evidence in diplomatic circles points to an early move on the part of the United States toward recognition of the new established Nationalist regime in China.

No official comment has come from Secretary of State Kellogg since his recent statement declaring sympathy with the aspiration of forces attempting to unify the celestial empire, but the cables to and from Peking in the past few days have carried ample assurances that this government is at least weighing the pros and cons of recognition.

Mac Murray Friendly.

Minister Mac Murray at Peking is avowedly friendly and has repeatedly thrown his influence, in the parleys of the ambassadors, on the side of moderation and neutrality in the war between Chinese factions.

Secretary Kellogg has stated several times during the last year that he would be happy to deal with any delegations of Chinese who can speak for a unified nation.

MOSCOW, July 11.—Three members of the crew of the wrecked dirigible Italia, missing since they set out alone on foot to seek land, have been located by a Russian aviator, according to a radio message today from the Russian ice breaker Krassin.

The Krassin has been operating among the ice floes in the vicinity of North East Land in an effort to rescue the group of survivors headed by Viglieri.

The group now reported located is understood to be composed of Dr. Finn Malmgren, Captain Alberto Mariano and Captain Fillipo. For the past two weeks they have been given up for lost.

The Malmgren party was floating on the ice when located.

It was expected here that an effort would be made by the commander of the Krassin to approach the place where the three men were found and to take them aboard the steamer. If this is not possible one of the Russian aviators with the Krassin will

Mayflower Chaplain Is Visitor In City

Lieut. Commander R. W. Shrum Of President's Yacht Guest Of M. J. Donnelly

Lieut. Commander R. W. Shrum, of the Chaplain Corps, of the United States Navy, is in the city today, the guest of M. J. Donnelly. Commander Shrum is attached to the navy department at Washington, D. C., and is chaplain of the president's yacht, The Mayflower.

President Coolidge, according to Commander Shrum, is the first president who has had a chaplain for The Mayflower.

Commander Shrum is a native of Pennsylvania, his home having been at Irwin, Pa., He is at present enroute from Culver Military Academy, to Washington, and stopped off in New Castle for a few days' visit. He recently attended a convention at Bedford Springs, where Mr. Donnelly was also a delegate, and made one of the chief addresses of the day.

When the frost has been forgotten, and the spring is long since by, when the days of March and April are succeeded by July, winter sports are in the limbo and there's one that has the call, its the national Yankee pastime, its the game we know as ball. When the winter has us freezing, or the spring brings April showers, or the wind blows through your whiskers, or the May sky frowns and glowers, there are those who pass up baseball, but on weather like today, everybody wants to be there, ants to hear the ump call play. Its the game for every station, every color, every creed, and there is no demarcation, petty difference gets no heed. Its the game for all true sportsmen, makes no difference where they be, and today was built for baseball, weather's scorching, ninety-three.

France Accepts Anti-War Treaty On Conditions

(International News Service)

PARIS, July 11.—France decided today upon acceptance of the proposed American anti-war treaty on condition it does not infringe on any of the Republic's existing commitments under the League of Nations covenant or the Locarno pact.

A council of ministers approved foreign minister Briand's reply to the latest treaty from Secretary of State Kellogg.

It was understood that the note would be sent to Washington this afternoon and that it will signify foreign minister Briand's willingness to sign the treaty with reservations.

For several weeks the amended draft of the proposed pact has been under scrutiny by the international law experts of the foreign office. In the meantime France has conducted private diplomatic conversations with Great Britain upon the subject.

It is reported that the United States has agreed that each nation that accepts and signs the pact may attach a covering communication giving its own interpretation of the treaty and and opinion of the obligations it entails.

England is expected to follow France in accepting the treaty conditionally.

CRAWFORD COUNTY OFFICERS RAID SHERIFF'S CONVENTION

that it was most embarrassing to the sheriffs.

The convention chose Pittsburgh as the next meeting place.

District Attorney's Statement.

Meadville, Pa., July 11.—"Nobody—officials or no officials, can violate the law in my county and get away with it."

That's the ultimatum laid down today by District Attorney Stuart Culbertson, of Crawford county, who yesterday staged a two-man raid on what he today described as "a drunken orgy" at the convention of the Pennsylvania state sheriffs' convention at Conneaut Lake.

"I believe that when a man takes the oath of office to support the constitution it is his solemn duty to see to it that he violates no part of it himself and permits no violation in any way," Culbertson told International News Service.

Culbertson would go farther, and demand that officials be in sympathy with the laws they are called upon to enforce.

"If he doesn't believe in that law and believe in upholding it he ought not to accept office," he said.

"Don't you believe it possible for a man to ignore his own views and enforce the laws as they stand?" he was asked.

"He ought to be in sympathy with those laws," said Culbertson.

Culbertson gave additional details of the raid which he and County Detective J. L. Laley staged at a Conneaut Lake hotel yesterday.

"Are you sure those present were sheriffs?" he was asked. "Certainly they were—why the whole gang came to my office later and argued that I had no right to hold the bell hop we arrested at their party, because they said he was handling their own private liquor.

"Why, they had no more business having liquor there than anybody else. Being officials gave them no license.

"It was a drinking orgy, pure and simple. Why, things were in an awful state when Laley and I broke in. There was liquor every place."

Culbertson described himself as a "dry, but not a radical." He said that he did not anticipate any further developments in the case.

to be conventional, are not at all affected by the recent hot wave. Aside from the sun suits which are worn by some, other ways have been found to keep cool. On the north hill Tuesday evening, Pa Newc counted 13 children playing in bathing sutis.

Two unusual looking flowers a twin and a triplet dahliam were exhibited in the office of The News this morning by Mrs. Josephine G. Allsopp of 606 Senett street, this city. Mrs. Allsopp stated that she had about a dozen of the double kind at home and also a few more of the triple-stemmed variety. Mrs. Allsopp kindly turned the flowers over to the editorial force of this paper and now they decorate the society editor's desk.

Pa Newc would like to have some one figure it out as how it comes that the central fire department is still in its old location on East street instead of the new fire station on South Jefferson street when two six story buildings started about the same time are about ready for occupancy.

Pa Newc learned this mornig that Hutchison street, sometimes better known as the dugout, is in terrible condition and almost impassable for pedestrians let alone any vehicles. This mornig about 8 o'clock a young lady enroute down the hill fell as a result of the rough condition of the place, ruining her dress and stockings and cutting her hands. Seems it should be fixed up a little .

RASKOB MAY BE MADE CHAIRMAN BY DEMOCRATS

iance to the new Smith dynasty, and to map out a militant campaign for restoration to power.

They came together with hopes high, with $200,000 already in the party chest, and with the assurance that for the first time since 1916 they are to have an aggressive, well-organized and amply-financed campaign, led by a man whose vote-getting ability even the enemy concedes.

Contrast To 1924 ....

The spirit that animated today's gathering of Democratic leaders was in marked contrast to the disinterestedness of the Cox campaign of 1920, and the hopelessness that followed in the wake of the Madison Square Garden debacle.

Only the rumble of rebellion in the South, made by the radical drys and the Anti-Tammany bitter-enders, was present to disturb the harmony of the gathering. And most of the leaders believe that this rumble will be drowned out by the roar of the general engagement soon to get under way. The Democrats are again hopeful, militant, aggressive—and most of them are downright confident.

An eleventh hour shift in the selection of a national chairman apparently eliminated Senator Peter Goelet Gerry of Rhode Island. The Smith leaders were reported to have decided upon an "eastern business man" and it was rumored that Bernard M. Baruch had been prevailed upon to accept the direction of Gov. Smith's campaign. There was no confirmation of this report but the rumor was widely circulated as the national committee met.

It was also widely reported that the Smith leaders had decided upon John J. Raskob, chairman of the board of General Motors Corporation. This report could not be confirmed either although a majority of the Smith leaders indicated that they believed Raskob would be chosen rather than Baruch.

It was also understood that Herbert H. Lehmann had been agreed upon as director of finance and that Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, ex-governor of Wyoming, would be selected as vice chairman of the national committee.

While the ostensible business of the assembly was the selection of a national chairman, the real business was to get together. Two hours before the national committee meeting, Governor Smith had a long conference with Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, his chief opponent at the Houston convention. The fiery Missourian was in his usual form.

"Everything I have is at Governor Smith's disposal," said Reed. "I put myself at his service."

This was but an indication of the eradication of pre-convention opposition and animoities. Reed, the bater anti-Wilson leader who but eight years ago was almost literally thrown out of the San Francisco convention, is again on the reservation, along with the Wilson leaders who were responsible for his humiliation.

Today's meeting brought Governor Smith into personal contract with the western and southern leaders for the first time. Some of them were seeing him for the first time in their lives, although his picture has been before their eyes almost constantly for four years, in more or less terrifying aspect.

It marked the first time in history that the presidential and vice presidential nominees have sat down with the state leaders at a gathering of this sort for a general staff meeting.

UNITED STATES MAY RECOGNIZE CHINESE REGIME

pressed the recognition claims of his government vigorously since the capture of Peking from the forces of Chang Tso-Lin several weeks ago.

Senator Borah Friendly.

Senator Borah, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, and a close observer of Chinese history during the past two years, is also kindly disposed toward recognition. He has conferred with Wu, at the latter's request, and the impression prevails that he has urged recognition at the state department.

Announcement of a new policy in China apparently was ready at the state department several days ago. Last minute developments of unknown nature caused it to be delayed. Since that time it has transpired that some of the other powers have evinced an interest in the American project. Whether Kellogg will be able to win England and Japan over to immediate recognition is a question, but if not, it is still likely that the United States will revert to its original plan of lone-handed negotiations with Nanking.

Nanking's recent declaration against renewal of any treaties granting extra territoriality in any part has complicated the delicate parleys now in progress. The southern government is willing to comply with Kellogg's demand for assurances of adequate protection to all foreign lives and property, but there is still some question in the minds of diplomats whether the internal politics of China are in shape to enable the Nanking regime to carry out such a contract permanently. Rival military leaders, temporarily unified by the drive on Nanking, are in several cases held together by tenuous bonds.

SLIGHT ACCIDENT.

Charles B. Matthews of 1511 Hamilton street, reported today that he was driving west on Long avenue on the green light when his machine was in a collision with that of H. A. Brooks which was enroute east on Long avenue and making a left hand turn onto Mill street. Some damage was done.

They had noticed that the two colored men came from a double toilet and after talking to them the officers looked in the toilet. They found a five-gallon container full of moonshine.

When the negroes saw the officers go to the toilet, they ran away, abandoning their car. Thomas White, negro, who resides in the vicinity and had control of one of the double toilets, in one of which the officers found the liquor, had his side locked and disclaimed knowledge of the liquor when question, but Officers Moore and Flinner stated that he was in the building in which the liquor was found.

He was arrested and brought to the police station for further investigation. Later the two colored men, Pettway and Scott, were seen going toward the west side in a taxicab, by Officers Moore and Flinner. They secured another car and gave chase. They arrested these two men, who later escaped, as they stood at West Washington and Front streets waiting for a Youngstown street car.

This morning Mayor William H. Gillespie, after hearing the evidence in the case, discharged Thomas White, the local man, because of the lack of evidence to show that he had anything to do with the liquor found by Officers Moore and Flinner.

Since the other men fled, the city authorities are planning to make informations against them.

The sessions of the annual meeting were held in the American Legion armory, where delegations of that size can be comfortably accommodated. Employes of the Reading postoffice escorted the visitors on a sightseeing tour, visiting Pagoda and the Art Museum, where the convention picture was taken.

The convention city was highly honored by having a member of its postoffice, Charles M. Leinbach, chosen to the presidency of the federation. Miss Margaret E. Young of McKees Rocks was named to one of the organization's offices, that of sixth vice president.

Mr. Donegan says that he knows nothing of the plans for the next convention, except that it will be held in this city on the third Sunday and Monday of July, 1929. The matter of selecting a place for the sessions will be considered at a later date.

One of the resolutions passed by the convention was that petitioning congress for a flat increase of $500 per year for all postoffice employes, including carriers.

The bill calling for a 44-hour week for employes of the postoffice, recently passed by the senate and which now remains for the approval of the house of representatives was also discussed.

Dean's handwriting as he was familiar with it, but objections were raised on the grounds that he was not sufficiently qualified as an expert. This caused a lively legal battle as to his qualifications, with the result that the court ruled that he could not testify as an expert.

Fight for Standard

Fight over the will of Mrs. Dean began this morning with a legal battle to establish a "standard signature" of Mrs. Dean. Numerous legal papers and checks were presented and testimony was taken of several witnesses who had seen Mrs. Dean writing her name. Among them were Attorneys Walter Braham, R. K. Aiken and Thomas Goodman. After a "standard" had been pretty well established from the legal papers testimony as to the authenticity of the signature to the will was taken up.

Thomas Goodman, who has been bookkeeper at Dean's Auto Service for a number of years, testified that he had sometimes written checks and that Mrs. Dean had signed them. He identified checks dated December 22, 1927, signed by Mrs. Dean in her home in bed and named the ones presented at the time of signing.

Checks dated December 24, 1927, were also identified as signed by Mrs. Dean in bed at her home. The checks were signed with a fountain pen. Witness said that Mrs. Dean began signing checks after being appointed administratrix of the estate of her husband, the late J. J. Dean. She had also given R. K. Aiken power of attorney to sign checks during her absence from the city or at other times that it was not convenient for her.

In response to questions Mr. Goodman said that wages of the auto service employes were paid in cash. The business of the auto service runs in the neighborhood of $800,000 a year.

"Not Her Signature"

At this point a photographic copy of the will was handed to the witness by Attorney Aiken, and the witness was asked if the signature was that of Mrs. Dean. "It is not," he said.

"Is the word 'Mrs." in her handwriting?" was the next question.

"I do not believe so," was the answer.

Mr. Goodman was asked to point out the difference in the handwriting of Mrs. Dean and that which appeared on the will. This brought on a fight over the admission of the testimony, on the grounds that Goodman was not an expert.

Cross-examined, Goodman said that he had first seen the paper purporting to be Mrs. Dean's will at the courthouse, where it was shown to him by Register and Recorder Jeanette Hutton. This was before it was probated.

"Did you not talk to former Judge Emery about the will?" asked Attorney R. K. Aiken, "before you had seen it?"

"No. As I was going to the courthouse to look at it I met Judge Emery on the steps and bade him good morning. He said: "What's this your name is?" I told him "Goodman", and that I was going to the courthouse to see Mrs. Dean's will.

"Judge Emery said that he would like to see me after I had seen it."

"Did you know at this time that Judge Emery had been consulted regarding the will by the heirs of Mrs. Dean?"

"Yes, they had come to the office and talked with me about it, and I told them that I thought it was a fake. They told me they had engaged counsel as they thought the will was a forgery. They also said I would not lose anything."

There was further controversy over the admission of evidence as to why Goodman thought the will was not in Mrs. Dean's handwriting.

Mrs. Ida B. Dean of East Washington street testified that when Mrs. Dean was in California she had received letters from her. One letter was shown her in which she spoke about an automobile accident. After Mrs. Dean had returned home she also discussed the accident with the witness. The witness was called for the purpose of showing the receipt of the letter with Mrs. Dean's signature.

Because of the inability of one of the witnesses, Mrs. Margaret Griffin, to go to court, the court went to her Tuesday afternoon.

Judge James A. Chambers, the attorneys in the case and the court stenographer went to 625 Arlington avenue, where Mrs. Griffin resides, and took her testimony and also that of Mrs. C. W. Williams.

Mrs. Griffin identified a check which had been sent to her by Mrs. Dean as a Christmas present, but because she could not properly identify it as the handwriting of the deceased woman, the court refused to permit its introduction into the evidence.

Mrs. Williams identified several letters written to her by the late Mrs. Dean and these were admitted. Asked if she thought Mrs. Dean had ever written the will which was probated, the witness said that she thought not, as it was entirely unlike anything Mrs. Dean would write.

Indications are that the case will last all week.

Hoover And Dawes To Meet Sunday

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential nominee, will be the guest of Vice President Dawes at his Evanston, Ill., home during his four-hour stop-over in Chicago next Sunday enroute to President Coolidge's summer camp in Wisconsin.

It will be the first meeting of the nominee with Dowes since Hoover forces turned thumbs down on the vice president at Kansas City a month ago.

will be to initiate the drive for feminist votes in the moist Atlantic seaboard states, where many Hoover leaders believe the campaign will be decided.

Similar conferences of women committeemen will be called later in other sections of the country, until the women of every region are thoroughly organized. Special efforts will be made in each section to get the independent and seldom-voting class of women out to the polls next November and to get them pledged to support Hoover.

Hoover to Start West

Hoover meanwhile was rapidly closing his affairs at the Department of Commerce, preparatory to departing for the west coast. Hoover's special train will leave Washington for the West about eight o'clock Saturday evening. It will reach Brule, Wis., late Sunday, where the Republican nominee will confer with President Coolidge. After spending a day with the President, Hoover will continue westward to San Francisco.

The nominee has decided to avoid all discussion of political questions until he delivers his acceptance speech at the notification exercises at Stanford University on August 11. For this reason he declined to announce his farm relief policy to W. H. Settle, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation.

Hoover, however, will announce a definite agricultural policy in his acceptance speech, just as he will make public his views on prohibition, the tariff and other campaign issues. Until then he will remain silent.

Nature Is Through As Man Reaches 40

Reason For High Mortality Rate After 40 Is Because Nature Forsakes Man

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, July 11.—"The human being is abandoned by nature at the age of 40 and at that age we are susceptible to degenreative diseases," was the startling statement made recently by Dr. R. W. Scott, professor of medicine at Western Reserve University here in discussing "Life's Process."

"Nature takes us up the hill," Dr. Scott declared. "On the brow of the hill we are unceremoniously dropped to shift for ourselves. Anything can happen after that.

"The average life span of a citizen of Rome in the 'Golden Age' of Augustus Caesar was 35 years. By the 13th century the life span had been lengthened to 40, and now virtually every infant is born with a life expectancy of 55 years.

"Why do so many people above 40 succumb to the so-called degenerative diseases? Is it because of the speed at which we are living? I don't think so. More properly it seems that nature ceases to be interested in us, or shoves us out of the way to make room for the oncoming generation."

Institute Finds Clinic Patient

Once Crippled Child Is No Longer Lame As Result Of Rotary Clinic

In 1925, Dr. W. O. Wallace, who conducts the clinics for crippled children at the Shenango Valley hospital for the Rotary club, operated on a young South Side girl, whose condition was the result of some trouble in the hip. Track was lost of the girl, who is about 11 years of age, and recently the hospital authorities asked the assistance of the International Institute in looking up the child, as it was thought that she would need another operation by this time.

Through the medium of the school she attended, she was finally located. It was found that her mother had maried again and this was the reason that trace of her was lost. The teacher of whom inquiry was made insisted that the child was not lame and when she was located and taken to the clinic this week, Dr. Wallace was happy to find that she was no longer lame or in need of another operation. This is but one of the many such cases that have been cared for at the clinic.

Aviator Chuchnovsky,who hopped off near the Krassin in a seaplane, reported that the group were floating helpless on an ice floe in 80.42 latitude and 25.45 west longitude. The floe was surrounded by masses of crushed ice.

Chuchnovsky circled over the party five times making observations. Two members of the party waved flags, but the third was lying down upon the ice motionless and apparently dead.

Heavy mists developing compelled the aviator to land upon Northeast Land.

The commander of the Krassin reported that he is attempting to rescue the group, but that the passage to the floe is blocked by huge icebergs.

It is easy to acquire a reputation, but it takes a lot of hard work to make a good one.

Don't fool yourself

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Halitosis ruins romance—end it

To meet anyone with halitosis even occasionally is bad enough, but to be married to one is indeed a trial. No wonder husbands are less considerate—wives less tender.

Don't fool yourself that you never have halitosis. Since it does not announce itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it. Unknowingly you may offend.

Why take the chance at all? Simply use Listerine every day. Then, if you have halitosis, Listerine ends it. If you haven't—your mouth has had the benefit that Listerine always gives.

Listerine ends halitosis because it is a powerful deodorant. If you need proof of this, rub a bit of onion on your hand and then apply a bit of Listerine clear. Immediately, the odor is gone. Even the strong odor of fish yields to this treatment.

Delay Election Of Local Delegate

Election of the local chapter's delegate to the national convention of the Order of Ahepa, to be held in Detroit during the week of August 29, was postponed last evening until July 31, when another meeting will be held.

Plans for the organization's picnic at Lakewood beach, which will be held on July 29, were formulated at last night's meeting and the chairmen of the various committees appointed. Peter Brown was named head of the reception committee, William Lestas head of the transportation group and Anthony Askounis program committee chairman.

What's the use? If you don't criticise, you're a Pollyanna; if you do, people accuse you of imitating Mencken.

WOMAN VOTE TO BE BIG FACTOR

IF WE are to accept the word of the statisticians, 58,000,000 American citizens will be qualified to vote at the November election and 28,500,000 of these, or about 49 per cent, are women. Since the franchise was granted women voters have not taken as much advantage of it as was expected, but there is reason for believing that this year they will play a larger and more important part in determining the election of a president than they have at any time since they gained national suffrage.

It may as well be conceded that not all, or even nearly all, of those who are qualified to vote—and this includes both sexes—will go to the polls. In the last presidential contest approximately 30,000,000 persons voted. This year the interest is so great that a much larger number will exercise the franchise, and at this time it looks as though the greatest increase would be in the woman vote. That being the case it will be interesting to note the appeal which is made to them by the two parties.

At the outset it can be said with confidence that Herbert Hoover will have strong support from this section of the voting citizens. His labors in Belgium during the war, his humanitarian work since then, and his deep interest in the Red Cross and similar organizations have won for him the lasting regard of the women of the land. So pronounced is this feeling that groups in his behalf are already being formed in towns and cities of the country.

Many women who have heretofore refrained from going to the polls will go there this year. They are gradually overcoming any timidity or aversion they may have had in the past. James W. Good, one of the Hoover managers, says that women are sensing their power as they never have before and that they are going to use it in this election. He predicts that they will play a supremely important role in the forthcoming contest. Eight years ago a woman would go to her husband and say: "Show me how to mark this ballot." This year she is likely to say to him: "Look, this is the way we ought to vote."

Women have learned from experience. "They will not only vote themselves," declares Mr. Good, "but they will help to get out the man vote. And it will not be merely the women politicians or the women leaders. It will also be a campaign of the home woman. Thousands will steal an hour away from their domestic duties, realizing that they have a real stake in the result. The home woman, the quiet domestic woman, will have a hand in the election of a president this year such as she has never cared to use before."

This does not exaggerate the situation in the least. The principles at stake affect every home in the land, and it is right and proper that the women voters should have a part in determining them.

ADVERTISING AIDS ALL

NEWSPAPER advertising and the automobile have combined to bring city shops to the very door of the farm house and the suburban home. Each day the newspapers bring a complete quotation of what can be bought, where it can be purchased and the prices at which it can be purchased. The sale is actually made through the advertising columns of the newspaper. A visit to the store next day by automobile completes the exchange for merchandise.

How much more convenient is this contrivance of modern commercial and industrial genius to the inefficient method of our rural forebears who knew only their personal needs. With them there was no alternative for the slow, tedious and disappointing expedient of going to town by wagon or cart and trusting to diligence and a stout pair of shoes to seek out the shop which sold that which they were in need of and which sold it at an acceptable price, if not at the lowest obtainable price.

The merchants in the cities and towns need not have debated over the inroads of the mail order houses before the day of the automobile and of persistent newspaper advertising. The mail order houses provided the rural and suburban buyer with a store—if only on paper—in which to plan his buying. Newspaper advertising is now offering the service formerly offered by the catalogs of the mail order houses but in addition is furnishing this service daily instead of twice yearly, is giving the buyer the choice of prices and goods of all merchants not those of one, and is rendering a valuable 24 hour service in assisting the public to determine its wants.

REDUCING BROADCASTING STATIONS

UNLESS the Federal Radio Commission changes its mind, a number of broadcasting stations will be silent after August 1. Naturally their promoters protest angrily. The commission gave them a hearing this week. Doubtless in individual cases injustice has been done, but the principle established is sound.

There are altogether too many stations. The air is filled with caterwaulings, clashes, noise, confusion. Nearly every city in the land is afflicted by broadcasters who serve no useful purpose and who at times are nuisances. The problem of control is an intricate one, no doubt of that, and the commission has been feeling its way for more than a year. The progress it has been making is slow. If at last it is convinced that the number of stations should be reduced for the public good, it is but accepting a conclusion that the average "fan" reached long ago.

The hard part isn't to concede that the majority is right, but to concede that right is a majority.

Alas! No distinguished alumni has yet given a correspondence school a million dollars worth of stamps.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:31. Sun rises tomorrow 4:39.

We discovered a ripe tomato on one of our vines yesterday. We were not trying to beat any one, but the tomate came just the same. We are not crowing about it.

Any one wishing to join the New Castle Motor Club can get the blanks at The News office. You can get more out of a membership in the Motor Club than in anything else. Many women belong and they should belong. You are not benefitting the club when you join, but you are doing yourself a big favor.

We still have with us the birds who ask "Is it hot enough for you?" Yes, we think that should happen to them too.

In the good old days some of the regular fellows wouldn't be over the Fourth of July yet.

Mr. Coolidge's latest witticism is the talk of Washington. It occurred at a White House breakfast. Vice President Dawes had been chafing Senator Watson of Indiana for appearing in a Prince Albert coat and a straw hat. The great Hoosier statesman was wincing under the badinage, when suddenly the President cut in:

"Well, it's just as proper to wear a straw hat with a Prince Albert as it is to smoke a pipe when you're wearing a Prince Albert."

One can tell how good a housekeeper a girl is by the straightness of the seams that run up the back of her stockings.

When collisions occur between airships when they are up in the air double damage naturally occurs .The coming together itself and the result when the machines hit the earth. And generally there isn't much left.

Believe it or not there is a lot of difference between being up in the air and floating in the clouds.

It is said that homely men have a great dislike for handsome ones. We don't know about that. We don't have it in for any pretty men in fact we are sorry for 'em.

Thomes Edison never said the road to failure is paved with poor inventions.

There are worse things than accepting the advice of a mother-in-law. We are sure there isn't a mother-in-law in the world who does not wish any of her in-laws all the success in the world. We are for the mother-in-laws.

Most girls look nice enough to eat, and do—plenty.

I saw a young man on a side street down town,
And with him a child perhaps five;
The little chap's face was exceedingly brown,
His eyes were alert and alive.

The boy was quite playful though really not bad,
But father said, "Sonny, be good!
I want you to be a real nice little lad
And grow up like a gentleman would!"
I saw a tense look on the face of the lad,
He spoke with sincerity, too—
"Don't want to grow up like a gentleman, Dad,
I want to grow up just like you!"

Some people think ginger ale is made out of gin.

The editor forgets the things he was going to say to the proof readers yesterday because the worse things he has to say about them today.

A girl's idea of a perfect husband is the fellow who happens along when she decides that her play days are over.

We know a bird who bought his wife a new washing machine because the old one made so much noise he could not sleep. He has a kind, hard-working and loving wife and he wants to be good to her.

There are people who think other folks are as dumb as they are—and some cannot be any dumber.

The homely looking women are always the ones who do the talking about the good looking women.

In the days of the lanciers dancers used to "Balance on the corners." They still do it, but now it's after the dance and outside the dance hall.

Advertising makes us. There wasn't any reducing fad until it became necessary to squeeze into breakfast rooms.

A writer says that millions of dollars are wasted on keeping graveyards looking nice that should be used for playgrounds. It does seem as if things are kept better around the graves of some than they ever were while they lived.

The worthy and the unworthy often profit alike. The same rain that causes the mushrooms to come forth also cause the toadstool to spring up.

It's a safe bet that more than half the citizens do not do their share towards the things they should to promote better civic life. That seems like a terrible percentage but checkups in some cases show it even worse.

I saw the following in a farm magazine a while ago and thought you might pass it on as it is quite amusing:

'Little boys with vivid imaginations occasionally unreal some good stuff in analyzing the different animals, both wild and domestic.

"A little fellow outdid himself on "Geese" in the following essay:

GEESE.

"Geese is a low, heavy set bird, which is mostly meet and feathers. His head sits on one side and he sits on the other. Geese don't sing much on account of the dampness of the moisture. He ain't got no—between his toes and he'sgot a little balloon in his stummak to keep him from sinking. Some geese when they gets big has curls on their tails and is called ganders. Ganders don't haff to sit and hatch, but just eat and loaf and go swimmin'. If I was a goose I'd rather a darn site be a gander."

ANONYMOUS.

From now on we may expect that the election propaganda will be the season's worst smeller.

The president of the Anti-Saloon League in Texas Rev. Atticus Webb is against Governor Smith for president It sure would have been a great surprise if we had heard that he was for him. Smith himself expects him to be against him.

"Frank" conversation hasn't increased. It has just moved from the stable to the living room.

Girls no sooner acquire a coat of tan than they begin to long for one of fur.

About time for some one to spring a ripe tomato.

Senator Reed who fought the nomination of Gov. Smith at Houston and who wanted to be president himself is in New York conferring with Smith right now and will do all in his power to help elect Smith. When it comes to standing together leave it to the Dems. They will all be for Smith when it comes time to vote.

As between a chronic prevaricator and an occasional liar give me the chronic prevaricator. It never is necessary to pay any attention to what the former says. He is almost incapable of harm-doing while the occasional liar is occasionally believed and can cause a lot of grief.

Henry Ford gave John D. Rockefeller a new Ford sedan on his 89th birthday. Those rich fellows sure do have great bonds of friendship and love between them. No poor man would give a friend an automobile.

The prize fighter who goes into the ring with the thought "Do unto others as ye would" won't get very far.

An Arctic explorer declares that before many years we will have air routes acros the top of the world. Well that will be all right for those who want to cross the top of the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge attended church last Sunday and the preacher preached on Jonah. Well, the president surely would enjoy that as he is doing nothing but fishing on his vacation.

The hours he sleeps is the only time man lives without reproach.

CLEVER.

Caddie—We found your ball, sir but we couldn't find the wallet.

Crafty Golfer—Thanks, awfully. It was the ball I wanted. I find I didn't lose my wallet after all!"

Girls may doctor their complexion, but the beautiful light in their eyes is genuine and shines like the pants to a blue serge suit.

A Chicago lady with one child is trying to stop her husband from flying to Paris in an airship. She is going to stop him if she has to get out an injunction. The lady says her husband is not always alone and often is accompanied on his flights by girls from the better families of Chicago. Funny thing about girls going with married men in airships. Nothing is thought of it but if they go out in automobiles with them—well, that's a difference.

Even the weather man is getting that way and occasionally talks dry and acts wet.

JUST LIKE HOME.

Al Falfa—Well we cured our city friends of comin' out every week-end and livin' off of us when we wanted to go away for a little change ourselves.

Timothy Hay—Is that so, Al? How'd ye manage it?

Al—Instead of feedin' 'em on fried chicken and such-like delicacies, we gave 'em canned goods from the store the same's they was used to.

We heard it said that the south was Democratic long before it was prohibition. And it will be Democratic after the November election. There are lots of things that will fool voters this fall and it is going to take some political education to get a lot of people away from their careless ways of voting which they have been taught in local affairs during the past several years.

And some still prefer to leave a good bed and go out into some damp spot and sleep in discomfort and it is called campingout.

When two people are thinking of the same thing it may be mental telepathy or it may be just plain embarassment.

A scarcity of meat is reported. A good time to let meat alone is during hot weather so the scarcity could have come at a worse time.

Wagon makers went into the automobile building business once but so far not many automobile makers are going into airship making business for fear the airship will displace the automobile.

AMERICANISM: Driving 40 miles on Sunday at a cost of $4.30 to find a suitable place to eat a sad lunch.

Respect the Pterosaur.
Still We Have Vice.
Homes for Colored People.
Bootleg Drama.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

An extinct pterosaur skeleton in Oregon should have a place in the Smithsonian Institution beside Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis".

Reptiles of the pterosaur family are the first things that ever flew on this earth, ahead of the Wright brothers by many millions of years.

First they flew as reptiles, scaly, unpleasant. Then they developed feathers, seen on the archeoptery discovered in Germany.

Then came real birds.

They were originally the most intelligent, enterprising animals, knowing enough to get off the earth out of harm's way.

But being safe they stopped thinking. Now birds are not intelligent.

Man, who never flew until lately, had to stay on the ground with his weak hands, small teeth and no claws, dodging everything. Fear made him boss of the planet. Remember that in your business.

New York appointed 14 to investigate vice, and the 14 report conditions "simply terrible".

Night clubs are worse than old "Raines law" hotels. "Dance studios" are studios of vice, and hostesses of clubs, doubtless with honorable exceptions, represent an ancient profession as well left undescribed.

The thousands of speakeasies in New York are worse than the thousands of saloons used to be, because the doors are not open.

In short, you get the impression that passing a law doesn't change human nature.

In northern cities, where large colonies of colored men and women are permanently established, financiers will not lend on apartments built for negroes. Colored people have been compelled to live in dilapidated tenements, paying high rents, more than whites had paid. The system has been demoralizing, unjust, harmful to whites as well as blacks.

John D. Rockefeller, in New York City, and Julius Rosenwald of Chicago, set a good example, supplying apartments, well built, at reasonable rentals, for colored families.

Mr. Rosenwald will invest $2,500,000 in an apartment to house 400 negro families. Tenants will pay lower rents than heretofore, and the investment will pay six per cent interest.

In New York, in a district already occupied by colored people, Mr. Rockefeller has built an even larger building, the Paul Lawrence Dunbar apartments for negroes.

White men brought the colored people here as slaves against their will, and it is the business of civilized white men to see that they are treated decently and have fair opportunities.

Bootlegging under prohibition is at least dramatic.

One bootleg gangster, Frankie Uale, was murdered by other gangsters.

Prosperot Petroino, brilliant young detective, tried to identify Uale's killers, suppose to have been sent to New York from Chicago.

As Petroino sat at dinner on Sunday night bullets came through his dining room window from an automobile flying past.

The stake involved in these killings and counter-killings amounts to $1,000,000 a year at least.

Prohibition authorities, bewildered, admit that recently "vast quantities of rum had been diverted from government warehouses, 100,000 gallons in one case."

The Republicans deny that prohibition is an important national issue. Criminals don't agree with them.

Mrs. Clem Shaver, wife of the Democratic national chairman, denounces the Democratic ticket and platform, saying no good American woman will vote for it.

Will Rogers says "Clem's wife threw a cat into the electric fan."

There will be many cats thrown into Republican and Democratic electric fans before the campaign ends. It is going to be a woman's fight on both sides and the female of the species will show professional politicians some things they never knew. Women say what they think, very little inhibition.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

WHEN THE BOY GROWS UP

They named the baby after me
Just sixteen years ago,
And now he's old enough to be
Some little damsel's beau,
And now the mail which bears my name,
And calls upon the 'phone
I find are not for me to claim
Exclusively my own.

"Is that you, Eddie?" questions one
Whose voice was sweet to hear.
"It is," said I. She started on
To make a date, I fear.
"Just wait," I cried, "I think that you
Would not appear so glad
Or laugh so gayly if you knew
This Eddie is the dad."

The Eddie calls come thick and fast
And few are now for me,
My popularity fades fast
While his is yet to be.
A most confusing thing this is,
Friends get us on the line
And often think my voice is his,
Or take his voice for mine.

Last night there came a shock to me
Across the telephone.
"Hello," said I. "Hello," said he,
Then in a certain tone,
Thinkink he knew Bud's voice, and yet
Not recognizing mine,
He said: "I don't want you. Please get
The old man on the line."

Dr. Crane's Editorial

THE BEST CONDITIONS FOR WORK

I suppose every writing man or any successful man is constantly in receipt of letters asking him about his personal habits. The correspondents all want to know under what conditions he does his work best. They even inquire as to what he eats and what kind of clothes he wears.

One of these correspondents once wrote to Bill Nye, asking what clothes he wore and how he dressed. He answered, "In the morning I wear morning dress and in the evening I wear evening dress and at night a night dress."

About the best rule for doing your best work is to find those conditions that suit you best, wherein the brain functions most effectively. What these conditions are varies in the case of different people.

Elie Metchnikoff, the little Russian Jew who became one of the famous "microbe hunters" and discovered that in the human body are cells hostile to disease microbes, said he could always carry on his experiments best when pretty girls were close by. In your case, however, this kind of surroundings might have a disturbing effect.

Paul Ehrlich, another experimenter, used to have the grind-organ musicians play dance music outside of the laboratory. He said that his best ideas came when he heard gay music like that.

Dickens always had to have the same kind of slips of paper, blue ink and a quill pen when he wrote.

Stephen Foster, an American song writer, composed his melodies in a silent room with heavy carpets and draperies.

Newspaper men, used to the ceaseless noise of typewriters and the bustle of a copy room, sometimes find they can not work so well where all is quiet.

Mark Twain used to write his best stuff lying in bed wearing an old-fashioned night gown. Frank R. Stockton produced his famous "Rudder Grange", dictating it while he lay in a hammock and sipped lemonade.

Hazlitt, the essayist, spoke enthusiastically about the benefits of a brisk outdoor walk. Many other people cannot think while walking.

Schubert scratched off some of his best songs at odd moments. One of his famous pieces was jotted down on the back of the bill of fare of a beer garden as he waited for a friend.

So the best thing to do is not to try to imitate somebody else, but to find the time when your own thoughts flow with the greatest ease and then work hard.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

HOW THE LORD PROVIDES.

It often occurs to the observant one how the Almighty takes care of the people of the earth. Humans go on increasing the population, thoughtless of how the new generation is going to support itself. The Democrats in their Houston Convention exclaimed in fervid voices concerning the alleged millions of United States citizens unemployed. If there are millions unemployed each and every one of the unemployed compose the host who rely upon the Lord to provide.

What would be the condition of unemployment in the present generation if the automobile had not been made a merchandizable article by the last generation? Think of the millions of men and women now employed by reason of the automobile:

In 1895 there were four automobiles manufactured in the United States; in 1900, 5,000 and in 1927, 2,939,000 automobiles and 455,000 trucks.

In 1895 the total number of automobiles registered in the United States was four; in 1900, 8,000; in 1927, 20,230,000 automobiles and 2,897,000 trucks.

Since 1900, the improvement in motors, body design, comfort, convenience, speed and serviceability of motor vehicles has made such rapid strides that today they constitute a most important factor in the social, business and economic life of the world and particularly of the United States.

The manufacture of motor vehicles (based on the wholesale price of the product) ranks first among the manufacturing industries of the United States, and that of motor vehicle bodies ranks ninth.

There are more than two billion dollars invested in automobile manufacturing, and 325,000 employees whose compensation in 1927 was $586,000,000.

Eighty per cent of all gasoline produced and 405,000,000 gallons of lubricating oil were consumed in the operation of automobiles and trucks in 1927.

The automobile industry in 1927 used 14 per cent of the iron and steel produced in this country; 63 per cent of the plate glass; 60 per cent of the leather upholstery; 82 per cent of the rubber consumed; 13 per cent of the hardwood lumber; 26 per cent of the aluminum; 11.6 per cent of the copper; 22 per cent of the tin; 16.7 per cent of the lead; 3.4 per cent of the zinc and 29 per cent of the nickel; and large quantities of softwood lumber, cloth, paints and varnish, hair and padding, and other raw materials.

The sale of so many motor vehicles requires bringing together at places of manufacture great quantities of diversified raw material, and results in distribution therefrom of large volumes of the finished product, thus furnishing the railroads a large amount of freight traffic which they would not otherwise receive.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce states that motor vehicles taxes in 1927 aggregated $760,000,000 of which $635,000,000 was special motor taxes and $125,000,000 ordinary personal property taxes. On this basis the total averaged per motor vehicle for 1927, as follows: federal, $2.61; state $29.61; municipal 65 cents. Of the $29.61 state tax, $13.02 was registration fees including drivers' licenses, $11.19 gasoline and $5.40 personal property.

Then there are the highways constructed since 1900 and especially since the War. Think of the number of men and women employed in building the highways, not only in the actual construction of them, but in the making, mining and delivery of the materials out of which the roads are built!

Every day sees more men and women employed by reason of the airplane. The World moves and the Creator of all never fails to endow a certain number of mortals of each generation with the creative mind in order that ways and means will always be given to the great mass of earning its daily bread.

Bible Thought For Today

BEWARE:—Strive not with a man without cause, if he have done thee no harm. Envy thou not the oppressor, and choose none of his ways.—Prov. 3.30, 31.

PRAYER—Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called the children of God.

If there's a wedding the bride's father gives her away. If there isn't, her small brother or catty friends did it.

C. B. D. CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

A PIRATE CHEST

Recently an express package was delivered at our apartment house, but the deliveryman said it was too heavy to lug upstairs. I had to hire two of the brawniest men in the neighborhood to uncrate and carry up the precious burden.

For it's a pirate chest, all made of forged iron and bound about with iron straps, closely riveted and carefully shaped by the hand of a workman who loved his work. That workman has been dust for nearly three centuries, but appreciation of his work has only begun. I do not know his name and address, to be sure, but what would it matter if I did? I know that once there lived a conscientious ironworker who made a handsome treasure chest, and the individuality of that worker lives on in his handiwork more truly than it could possibly live in carven lines on a tombstone.

"What's this for?" asked one of the sweating and puffing laborers who carried the chest upstairs.

"Why, to look at, I suppose."

And the men glanced significantly at one another, as if to say, "Well, would you ever think he was that crazy?"

But I can't resist the pirates. The romantic lure of these picturesque villains has always held me spellbound. I have collected a thousand books and pamphlets and old documents about them, and I have written cords of stories and tales dealing with their activities and their strange lives.

To buy an iron chest and keep it in one's home just because doubloons and pieces of eight once were buried in it is supreme folly, I suppose. But we all have our follies, and I have neither radio nor motor car, so please allow me to glory in an ancient iron chest and a lot of bloody books.

Eight strong pirates could have managed to get a purchase on this heavy chest, by using the heavy iron handles at both ends and slipping poles under the box. That many strong men could lift a goodly load of gold and silver within the chest. Where did they bury their treasure, and who found it? Aha! There's a story, sure enough!

Leg Broken In Fight, Aggressor In Jail

Wiliam Roberts, negro is in the New Castle hospital with a leg broken at the ankle and Ed Walker, negro, his alleged assailent is in the city jail facing a serious charge as a result of a battle they are said to have staged at or near the Byers coal yard on the West Side late last night.

The injury of Roberts occurred according to Officer Richards who arrived on the scene shortly after Roberts was hurt, when Ed Walker knocked Roberts to the ground and then jumped on him as he lay prostrate. Roberts made his getaway at the time and Officer Richards called an ambulance and had the injured man removed to the New Castle hospital.

Walker was arrested shortly after 5 o'clock this morning by Officers Crisswell and Syling. He will be taken before Alderman J. Lee Cooper where a charge of aggravated assault and batter will be made against him.

Still No Trace Of Missing Boy

PERICLES ASKOUNES

This is a picture of Pericles Askounes, age 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Askounes of East North street, who has been missing from home since Thursday, July 5.

The lad does not always wear glasses. In size he is much larger than his years would indicate being 5 feet 10 inches in height, and weighing 182 pounds.

Mr. Askounes, his father, is today arranging to have pamphlets sent to the police of many towns in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio in an endeavor to locate him.

Whats An Ocean To Good Swimmers?

Morton Hoyt Just Wanted To Show The Boys And Girls How Good He Was, He Says

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Morton Hoyt's sensational leap from the deck of the Rochambeau into the icy waters of Grand Bank last Friday night was merely to demonstrate that the ocean holds no terrors for a good swimmer.

This was Hoyt's personal explanation of the incident today, following his return to his home here.

His friendship with Miss Elsie Ekengren, 17-year-old daughter of a former Swedish minister to the United States, had nothing to do with his adventure, he said.

He was telling a group of men on the deck that there was no danger for a good swimmer in fair weather. Someone else said it was always fair weather when good fellows were together.

"It's clear enough," Hoyt responded. And over he went.

He experienced no serious result, he said, but remained in the ship's hospital merely to rest. He was picked up about half a mile from the ship. Only his ability as a swimmer saved his life.

Miss Ekengren was returning from school in Lucerne, Switzerland. She met Hoyt for the first time on the Rochambeau. They had dinner together Friday evening a few hours before the death-defying leap.

The Way OF THE World

THE GO SIGN

A handful of men and two teams of horses began digging up a downtown lot.

"Is the new hotel going up now?" a bystander asked.

"Not now," was the answer, "but the man who leased the property to build a hotel has been ordered to DO SOMETHING, or under the terms of the lease he cannot hold it.

It is comfortable not to do anything or go anywhere. Sometimes events prove we were wise to know when not to do anything or go anywhere. Our judgment must tell us when those times are at hand. Usually to GO is the important part of a policy.

The fact that they believed the go-sign was always turned on is one of the secrets of the achievements of most of the great leaders of history.

IN THE EARTH'S HEART

A gigantic laboratory lies in the heart of the earth. It is such a huge storehouse of riches that our minds can hardly grasp the size and significance of it. In this almost measureless laboratory there are being manufactured the material resources upon which industrial civilization is built.

Oil, gas, iron, coal are being made in earth's laboratory by the wonder-processes of nature. There is not just a definite amount of assets in the earth. New material is constantly being made. The question is whether the increasing demands of men are using it up at such a rate that in spite of its increase it will run out. The countless generations to come will prove whether the laboratory processes are fast enough.

PREPARATION

Great men may seem to rise to heights at a sudden bound. They may seem to nail their flags high at a single stroke. That is not the way they are made. The world has not seen the patience, the unsuccessful trials, the failures and the new starts that have gone before. We hail fruition. Preparation is hidden.

Daniel Webster referred in a burst of enduring eloquence to the fact that Great Britain's dominions are so widely distributed over the earth that the sun never sets on her power. He found her "keeping drum beats with the hours."

A man congratulated Webster on his words and his eloquence.

"How did you come to think of it," the friend asked.

"I have been thinking of it for years," said Webster.

TO BE FIRST

We are too much excited about being first. So often being first means little. There is a craze for setting records. Somebody want to sit on a flag pole longer than anybody else. Somebody wants to dance continuously for a few days and nights in the hope of being first to accomplish an absurd objective. It is so much more important to determine, quite calmly, whether you are doing anything worth doing than it is merely to be out for a record.

Tom Sterrett Says It Was Ginger Ale

Erie County Sheriff Says Cubertson Guilty Of Dirty Trick In Raiding Sheriffs

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., July 11.—District Attorney Stuart Culbertson's "ginger ale raid" on the convention of Pennsylvania sheriffs here yesterday, today came under the scorn of Sheriff Tom Sterrett of Erie in his column, "What D'y Know", a regular feature of the Erie Times.

"I know the sheriffs of Pennsylvania are on their way to Port Dover, Ont,. today to hold the final session of their state convention after the ginger ale raid of yesterday," Sterrett wrote.

"We thought it was a convention joke when the raiders broke in but when we learned they were serious a fist fight followed. The district attorney of Crawford county, who beat his spellbinders to an official welcome left wtih a couple of bottles of alleged ginger ale and a red-headed bell hop for whom the indignant sheriffs provided a $500 bond. The banquet was spoiled.

"I know that the Crawford county district attorney has been guilty of the dirtiest trick I ever saw pulled in my life. We were quietly sipping ginger ale when they broke in and convinced us the raid was on the level. The district attorney got a smash on the nose."

Two Girls Burned To Death At Play

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 11.—Two girls are dead from burns suffered when they poured gasoline on a fire, at their home at Prenter on Coal river. The victims, Virginia Van Meter, 12, and her niece, Juanita Van Meter, 5, died in a hospital here a few hours after their admittance. The children were building a fire in the yard of their home and poured gasoline over the wood, thinking it was coal oil. It exploded when they applied a match

Rolling In Wealth

Endowment Is Growing

Greenwood Cemetery Fund Climbs To More Than $17,000

BOARD MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT

At the meeting of the board of directors of Greenwood Cemetery company last night reports received concerning the business affairs of the corporation were found to be very satisfactory. The treasury has a nice balance on hand to meet some emergency improvements and renewals, including the repair of a bridge over the run which traverses the cemetery. Engineer T. A. Gilkey was employed to draw plans and make specifications for this repair.

One of the interesting reports received was that concerning the endowment fund, which was started seven years ago to provide for the maintenance of the cemetery for all future time.

The report made by the Union Trust company of New Castle, which banking institution has charge of the endowment fund, showed that the fund had grown from $14,438.63 which was the amount in the fund last year to $7,259.47 at the present time. This is an increase of $2,820.84 in approximately a year.

A considerable portion of the growth of the fund was due to the generosity of the lot owners in the cemetery in giving sums of money to the endowment fund. The balance of the increase was due to the turning back into the fund of all interest realized on the investments of the endowment fund.

While the interest realized from the endowment fund may be used as seen fit so long as it is used in caring for and improving the cemetery property, not a cent of it has ever been used except to increase the endowment.

Instead of using this income the board of directors of Greenwood cemetery have seen fit to place it back in the endowment fund as fast is it is received with the result that the endowment fund which was started seven years ago with but $500 is now over $17,000.

Indications are that the fund will be in excess of $20,000 in the immediate future. All persons who are interested in any way in Grenwood cemetery and the success of its endowment fund may contribute at any time to the cause.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

TIME OFF FOR A NAP

Mr. and Mrs. Bobolink both flirted their tails with glee at the memory. "Cock of the Rock drew himself up to his full height and wife and I felt like two flies before him!" continued Bobolink. "He looks so large and so self important. 'And this is my wife,' said he. At this the first bird, who had seemed in such a hurry to trample upon us, came forward and bowed politely.

"'My wife is not as good to look upon as I am,' went on that conceited husband. 'Her feathers are not so gay and her crest is much smaller, but she is good as a wife can be and a faithful mother, and what more could a bird ask.'

"'And I hope you will forgive me for being so rude when I first saw you,' remarked Mrs. Cock of the Rock, hastily, at this point. 'In nesting time I am as nervous as a fish—I am so afraid that something will happen to the eggs. But now that I have really met you I am sure that you are just friendly visitors to our land. You are welcome to share our home as long as you like. And to show that we trust you we are going to leave you alone with the eggs while we go and search for food. Soon it will be too dark to find the best seeds and roots. By-by Bobolinks! Come on, husband;' Sure enough, true to her words, off trotted Mrs. Cock of the Rock, her husband close behind her.

"They didn't tell us where they were going nor when they were coming back. Queer parents, those two, without knowing a thing more about us than we had told them, ourselves, they left us all alone to act as nurses to their precious eggs, each twice as large as either of us. Strangers in a strange land—alone in the dark—"

Bobolink's voice had been growing slower and slower and now it stopped altogether. The bird seemed to be nodding on the clover stalk.

"What did you do next?" demanded Sonny-Bunny, who didn't intend, if he could help it, to have the story telling come to an end.

"Went to sleep, of course," replied Bobolink, lazily, "and that is exactly what I am going to do now. If you want to hear more tales wifie will have to tell them. I am too tired. Maybe when I have had a nap I can think of more to say, but now my throat is really sore from chirping."

"MY WIFE IS NOT AS GOOD TO LOOK AT AS I AM," WENT ON THE CONCEITED HUSBAND.

Without antoher word Bobolink closed his drowsy eyes, tucked his head under his wing and that was the last of him for a while. He went sound asleep, rocked by the breeze.

EMPLOYEE MISSING FUNDS ARE SHORT

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 11.—Police and officials of the Western Union Telegraph Company disclosed that a search was being made for Lawrence L. Linkfield, night manager of the company's Huntington office, who, it was claimed, disappeared July 5, simultaneously with the discovery of a $4,000 shortage in his accounts. Linkfield left a note saying he was going to visit a sick relative, but police and company investigators said he had been traced to Dayton, O.

BOY IS DROWNED IN OHIO RIVER

FREEDOM, Pa., July 11.—Fred Bonaparte, 12, son of Samuel Bonaparte, of 661 Third avenue, was drowned late yesterday while swimming in the Ohio river off a sand bar near here.

The boy is believed to have stepped off into a deep pool left by dredging operations. Four playmates, Samuel Caprone, Eugene Holsinger and William and Webb Crowe, who saw him disappear, went in after him but were unable to find him. Police were searching for his body last night. The boy's father was prostrated by news of the accident.

HOUSEWORK IS EASY FOR HEALTHY WOMEN

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Gave These Women Strength

MRS. ROSA SWICEGOOD
R. 1, Woodleaf, N. C.

Woodleaf, N. C.—"I was nervous and suffered most of the time and sometimes I would have to go to bed. My sister told me she was in the same condition and how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her. After taking the first bottle I found I was stronger than I was before. Now I have taken three bottles, I can do my housework and most every other kind of work that I want to do. I will recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to anyone. I will answer all mail received asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Rosa Swicegood, R. 1, Woodleaf, N. C.

Benefited Beyond Expression

Jacksonville, Fla.—"I read an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have been taking it now for four years and find it a wonderful medicine for weak, run-down women. I do my own housework and work in an office besides and I would get cross and irritable and too sick to work. I have benefited beyond expression by the Vegetable Compound and will gladly answer letters from anyone who is suffering and needs help."—Mrs. Rose Morris, 2149 Walnut St., Jacksonville, Florida.

Her Health Came Back Soon After She Got Konjola

MRS. LAURA L. FULTON
Seavy Photo

New Medicine Ended Years Of Kidney and Liver Troubles; States This Lady

Many of the well known residents of New Castle and vicinity are telling how this remarkable medicine, Konjola, is delivering them from their health troubles. The Konjola Man, who is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington St., this city, is explaining this compound to over a hundred people throughout each day, and at the same time, many already benefited are giving their indorsement of this medicine.

One of the latest statements came from Mrs. Laura L. Fulton, 110½ North Liberty St., this city.

"This is the first time in my life to ever praise a medicine to the public", said Mrs. Fulton, "and I want to indorse Konjola because it completely restored my health after everything else failed.

"I was suffering every day with kidney trouble. Nothing that I ever took or did for that ailment would do me the least bit good. As the days passed my condition grew all the worse. My lower limbs would swell up to almost twice their size and sometimes I could hardly get around the house. There seemed to be a constant pain across the small of my back. At night I would have to rise several times and this broke up my rest so that I was always tired and worn-out. Because of sluggish liver, my entire body was broken out with a rash. This caused me so much suffering that I often thought I would go wild. All during a day I had splitting headaches that felt as if a thousand needles were sticking in my head. I always felt tired and draggy—just like I was only half-living.

"In this condition I went to the Konjola Man and found out about this medicine. I was merely told that it had helped others in my condition and that it most likely would help me. I have only taken two bottles but I feel as if I never had a sick day in my life. Konjola regulated and strengthened my kidneys so that my limbs never swell. The awful pains in my back have never returned since I started taking this medicine and I enjoy sound and all night sleep. My liver is functioning the way it should and the rash has cleared up, in fact, my complexion is better now than it has been for a long time. The medicine has helped me so much to gain new and glorious health and that is my reason for indorsing it".

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington St., New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Declaring that Herbert Hoover is the easiest man the Republicans could have selected for the Democrats to beat, Senator "Jim" Reed of Missouri delivered himself of a tirade against the G. O. P. nominee in an interview with newspapermen here this afternoon. Reed was in New York attending the meeting of chieftains of the Democratic party.

Speaking of the Democratic conference today, Reed said: "We're off to a good start. There isn't any reason why we shouldn't win in November."

Reed was obviously in a happy frame of mind following his conference with Governor Al Smith, the Democratic nominee.

He was caustic, however, in his references to Hoover, saying:—

"Hoover is the easiest man for us to beat. He's not an American—he's an Englishman. If we want to elect an Englishman president of the United States why not get the Prince of Wales and not someone who was sent to this country from England to break down the price of wheat during the war?"

Swiss Officials Bar Love Affairs

No Romance During Working Hours Is Edict Of Swiss Polezei

(International News Service)

GENEVA, July 11.—Swiss customs officials will not stand for the least bit of romance during working hours. A young man in Basel recently came within an acre of losing his position for allowing sentimentality to interfere with his duties.

When an inspector knocked at the door of the important frontier post where the man was in charge, he could get no response. After waiting a few moments, the door slowly opened and two beautiful maideris from the other side of the border-line, stepped out nonchalantly. The embarrassed young gentlemen tried to cover himself with the excuse that his fiancee had just dropped in to see him with her friend.

The inspector would not listen to the tale and dismissed the man on the spot. When the case came up before the Board of Administration, indulgence was shown and the young retrograde was reinstated but placed in a lower position.

MAY ATTEMPT TO VOID ALL VOTES OF PHILADELPHIA

closed during yesterday's session and at the hearing today Wilson's lawyers intimated would be used in an attempt to void the entire vote cast in Philadelphia, thus preventing Senator-elect William S. Vare from obtaining his seat which has already been denied him by the senate.

Fred Schadt, a candy merchant, took the stand first today and declared that only about 10 out of a hundred paid their poll tax in the regular way while he was a deputy poll tax collector in the 20th ward in 1926.

Schadt said that the poll-tax receipts for the others who failed to put up the regular 50-cent pieces was later "made good" by either Magistrate Edward Connors or Mike J. Mullen, an attache of the coroner's office who are the Republican committeemen in his division.

After Schadt had left the stand, Wilson's lawyers sent former Magistrate Robert Carson among the newspapermen with a copy of an opinion handed down by the supreme court in 1912 in a test case in Warren county.

The decision read in part:

"Not only is the payment of a tax of another without a written order prohibited and made a misdemeanor but so also is the attempt by the voter to vote on the strength of it, which is the material thing. The law, having put its solemn condemnation on every step of the transaction, the ballot which the voter cast in violation of it is clearly illegal and ought not to be counted."

Wilson's attorneys hinted an attempt would be made on this ground to have numerous of the local division's ballots thrown out.

New Democratic Head Does About Face

John J. Raskob, New Chairman Listed In "Who's Who" As A Republican

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 11.—The selection of John J. Raskob, chairman of the finance committee of the General Motors Corporation, as chairman of the Democratic national committee, marks a political about-face for the New York capitalist, if the information contained in "Who's Who in America" can be accepted as evidence.

Although he is a personal friend and has for a long time been a political supporter of Governor Alfred E. Smith, Raskob is listed in Who's Who as a Republican, and has apparently permitted himself thus to be identified with the G. O. P. for several years.

After listing his various important business and banking connections, Who's Who says of the new Democratic leader: "Member President Wilson's industrial conference, Washington, D. C., October, 1919. Republican. K. C."

Postmaster General To Be Questioned

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Postmaster General New will be questioned tomorrow by the special senate subcommittee investigating alleged irregularities in postoffice appointments in Georgia and Mississippi.

Chairman Brookhart (R) of Iowa adjourned the inquiry at Atlanta today following presentation of evidence which he said demanded hearings here, where postal officials are accessible.

New said he would be pleased to appear before the committee. He declined, however, to discuss the charges aired in the Atlanta proceeding.

Golf Ball Hit So Hard It Break's Boy's Neck

(International News Service)

ODGEN, Utah, July 11.—K. K. Steffensen, Salt Lake City attorney, drove a golf ball at such a terrific rate of speed that fifteen feet from the place he hit it, it struck and almost instantly killed nine-year old Nathan Taylor of Ogden. It broke his neck.

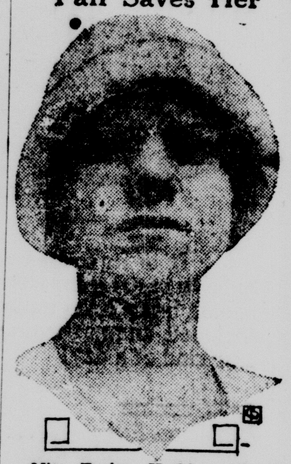
Fall Saves Her



Miss Evelyn Haskins, 18, of Richmond, Va., owes her life to the fact that she stumbled and fell while fleeing from Sylvester Medley, 17, an infuriated negro, after he had killed Samuel E. Grinnell, 16, with a shotgun and seriously wounded the boy's foster father, Henry Grinnell, and Mrs. Nellie Haskins, his mother, in seeking revenge for some fancied wrong. Miss Haskins stumbled and fell just as the infuriated man fired point blank at her. He was later captured by a posse.

Goddard Is Named To Head Student Body At School

James W. Cole Of New Castle Is Given Excellent Vote For Place

(Special To The News)

EVANSTON, Ill., July 11.—Roscoe H. Goddard, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Worchester, Mass., a city of approximately 200,000, was elected president of the student body at the National School for Commercial Secretaries at North-Western University over James W. Cole, secretary of the New Castle, Pennsylvania, Chamber of Commerce.

The school is made up of representatives from cities in all parts of the United States, and the nomination of these two men is a splendid tribute to the cities they serve.

Although the contest was close, it was friendly, and Mr. Cole has already won many friends with the graciousness with which he took his defeat.

Mr. Goddard is a man of many years experience in Chamber of Commerce work, and his been closely identified with the school since its inception eight years ago. Two years ago Mr. Goddard was defeated for the presidency of the student body of the National School by James T. Daniels the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Columbus, Ohio. That defeat brought him into prominence with the students at the school and was largely responsible for his election to the presidency this year.

More Coal Mines Put In Operation

WHEELING, W. Va., July 11. — Twenty-seven mines in Eastern Ohio have resumed operations on an open-shop basis, it was announced by C. J. Albasin, commissioner of the Pittsburgh Vein Operators' Association. This leaves more than 100 mines still idle. The latest to resume was the Rail and River Coal company No. 6 mine at McClainsville, which began production this morning.

HOUSE MOVERS STARTING WORK

Work Progresses On Extension Of Westminster College Campus

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, July 11.—Actual work on the proposed removal of seven residences from the college campus to Orchard street here started yesterday with the preliminary preparations of the Eichley House Moving Co. of Pittsburgh to jack up the house now located adjacent to the north end of the new college dormitory.

The moving of the houses from College avenue will enable Westminster authorities to immediately start the proposed campus beautification project. It is expected that all of the houses will be moved to their new sites before the opening of the fall school semester.

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

By CLARK KINNAIRD
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

NEW YORK, July 11.—Otto H. Kahn, whose dividends from Kuhn, Loeb & Co., international bankers, give him all the millions he wants to play with, is the champion indulgent father.

When his son Roger, not yet 20, got the idea he'd like to have a jazz band, Father Kahn put up the money for Roger to organize one. Junior gave the musicians any salary they asked, so the orchestra lost plenty of money, despite the measure of popularity it enjoyed as a theatrical attraction.

Then young Roger got the idea he'd like a night club. One was fitted out according to his ideas. After one season it closed. Loss (to Father Kahn) $800,000.

Roger's fancy flitted to airplanes. Father Kahn provided the wherewithal for son to have the finest private plane in the United States built. Roger bought two more to keep it company.

Then Son Roger, feeling faint stirrings in his breast, decided he'd like to write the music for a show. The show was produced because Otto H. Kahn volunteered as backer. The show closed after several weeks, with a loss of several hundred thousand dollars.

The junior Kahn also likes racing cars, so he has a track of his own; likes long distance calls, and so talks to London regularly by trans-Atlantic radiophone. Whatever he asks for he gets.

New York now knows what James J. Walker does with all his time, and why he is so late for most engagements. It seems that whenever he is in New York the man who was elected mayor writes songs. One of them, "Cheerio", has a place in a current musical revue. Another, a hymn celebrating New York, is soon to make its appearance. As is well known, Jimmy wrote the immortal "Will You Love Me in December as You Did in May" some years ago.

Since New York authorities began an investigation of "ambulance chasing" lawyers, the number of accident suits filed in the city has greatly decreased. The police dug up evidence of the activities of organized bands of persons devoted to the staging of fake accidents designed to be the means of collecting money from auto owners and companies.

Men with broken legs or injured arms or missing teeth were eagerly sought by bands as "victims" of fictitious falls in department stores, railroad stations or theaters which could be made defendants in damage suits. One of the pet devices of one gang was to have one of its members enter a drug store carrying a dead horse fly in a pocket. After ordering an ice cream soda and receiving it, the man would drop the fly covertly into the glass, pretend nausea, and complain to the proprietor. Then he would hurry away. The next day the store would receive a letter from a lawyer threatening a suit for damages because of his client's distressing misadventure. Usually, the drug store proprietor would pay damages rather than brave the suit and the attendant publicity.

"Fake accident" gangs operate all over the country, experts here say.

When "Ten Nights in a Barroom" was revived by a little band of adventurous Greenwich Village spirits, it was intended to be a comedy, but patrons took it seriously. The company moved to a theater within a stone's throw of Broadway, and the old play became a weeping success. The producers are convinced that wives in the hinterland have tears to shed, too, and are going to send it on tour.

Recovers Memory After Thirteen Years

Strange Case Comes To Light By Police Of Scranton, Pa.

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., July 11.—One of the strangest cases in local police annals was brought to light here today when a man whose memory had been a blank for 13 years suddenly recalled that he was F. W. Clilverd, 34, a seaman, of London, England.

Clilverd had been at police headquarters for a week, having been picked up in a daze on the street. Today he yelled from his cell for help, beseaching officers to save him from imaginary falling barrels.

As Patrolmen comforted him, Clilverd, who when first taken into custody did not know his name or address, suffered a complete change. He sat down, buried his head in his hands and wept, telling police that 13 years ago he had been injured by a falling barrel while on "H. M. S. Lion", the last ship on which he sailed. He said from that time he had lost his memory until today.

After telling his story to police Clilverd addressed a letter to his mother in London, telling her that he was still alive and would soon be home. Police said the man had wandered about the country during the time his memory was gone, trying to identify himself.

Boston Buyer Predicts That Market Break Will Be Remedied

MERCER, Pa., July 11.—The wool pool of Venango county farmers has been bought by the Jeremiah Williams Company of Boston, it was announced here today by J. G. Zahniser, for 50 years a buyer for this company of western Pennsylvania wools.

The pool totaled 18,000 pounds. It is the opinion of Zahniser that the sudden break in the wool market will be remedied.

Purchased Rug For $110,000

LONDON, July 11.—The "Emperor's Persian carpet", given by Peter the Great of Russia to Leopold of Austria, was sold at Christies' today for 22,000 guineas, or $110,000.

The relic was bought by the International Art Gallery, which has establishments in London, Paris and New York.

The carpet is of woven wool and silk in 21 colors. It is 25 feet long and 10 feet 8inches wide, and contains 15,000 knots, each tied separately.

It came into the market in 1925 when it was sold by the Austrian state museum on the order of the reparations committee. A private firm bought it at that time.

State Highway Patrolman Hurt

Ralph Dibble, Of Girard, Pa., Hurt In Crash Near Latrobe, Pa.

(International News Service)

LATROBE, Pa., July 11.—An operation was to be performed at Latrobe hospital today in an effort to save the left foot of Officer Ralph Dibble, 24, of Girard, Pa., member of the state highway patrol, who was injured late Monday when his motorcycle crashed into a freight train at Manito station, near here.

Dibble's feet were mangled in the crash, the left being so badly injured that Dr. Jack Hamill, attending physician, held out small hope that the foot can be saved. The sole and all toes on his left foot were torn off, while the great toe on the right also was severed. He suffered minor body bruises.

According to information available at the hospital, Dibble's view of the approaching freight was obscured by a grade approaching the right-of-way.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Dibble of Girard, the patrolman's parents, were at his bedside today and were expected to remain until after the operation.

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 11.—Officer Ralph Dibble of the state hignway patrol, who lies in Latrobe hospital as the result of injuries sustained in a crash between his motorcycle and a train at Manito station, has been in the state service about two years, according to highway patrol officials here. He is 24 years old and a resident of Girard, Pa.

Continue Efforts To Rescue Miners

(International News Service)

POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 11.—Rescue crews at the Lytle colliery of the Susquehanna Coal Co., near here today had settled down to the tiresome work of clearing away the debris of the explosion that entombed three miners now definitely believed to be dead.

While the work of tunnelling under the fifth level where the blast occurred proceeded slowly, other workers were moeing the thousands of tons of rock and coal that choked the gangways at the rate of about ten tons an hour. Company officials said today it was impossible to predict when the men were trapped Monday would be reached.

One reason why business is slack in summer is because the boss doesn't encourage anything that might interfere with golf.

When a Man Goes in for Washing Dishes

"THE best housekeeper I ever had," said a young married woman the other day, "was a man.

"It was in a little village down in Maine where we lived for two years. Maids were scarce and I prevailed upon Joe to help me in the house. Joe had been in the Navy, and later had had his own fishing schooner.

"I have never known a woman who was so scrupulously neat as Joe. The way he washed dishes, for instance, was a lesson in efficiency.

"First he scraped and piled them all according to size. He used Lux for the suds in the dishpan, because, he said, Lux made better suds in half the time of anything else, also because Lux was easier on his hands.

"Sailors, he said, use Lux because their hands are often badly chapped and broken and Lux is soothing.

"Now I myself follow Joe's plan in doing dishes, and I always use Lux. The difference it has made in the looks of my hands is really amazing. Lux keeps them so white and smooth, that I've passed on the hint to my friends."

Because Lux contains none of the harmful alkali found in many household soaps, whether flakes, chips or cakes, it never irritates even the most sensitive skin, never dries the delicate oils of the hands.

And the big package of Lux washes 6 weeks' dishes.

Girl Reporter Investigates Night Clubs In New York

EDITORS NOTE: — International News Service today sent one of its young women reporters to investigate conditions which the committee of fourteen, formed to combat the spread of vice, alleged in its annual report exist in New York. The committee charged that vice abounds in the night clubs, speakeasies and private dance studios and that many young "hostesses" are being lured along the wrong path. The girl reporter's story follows:

By RUTH RIDENOUR,
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 11.—The commitee of fourteen skipped a lot of places when they were investigating vice in New York.

They picked out the unspeakables" among the speakeasies and blanketed several hundred haunts of harmless pleasure and anti-volstead cheer with the charge that they were operated "frequently as houses of prostitution, that the majority of night club hostesses were immoral, and that dance halls were the gateway by which young girls often entered lives of vice."

According to Leona, one of the girls in a certain night club in the "Red light district" of the West Forties, "That's a lot of bull".

Leona has a peculiar accent, a well-chiseled face with features that might be considered beautiful if they contained some expression of vivacity and a well but slightly over-built figure. She is typical of her profession as night club entertainer in the cheaper, more furtive resorts.

When your committee of one trying to place Leona's accent asked where she came from she said, "Vienna". Pressed a bit about the prater and ringrun in Vienna she decided she was from Iowa.

"Why did you leave home?" she was asked.

"I wanted to go on the stage," she said, and went on with the old old story. She had got "in trouble" when quite young at home. Fear, desperation, ignorance, poverty — she shrugged and laughed off the bitterness of that distant memory.

She did chorus work for a while, but "didn't get the break," looking for a job she heard about this work, it sounded easy and the pay was good. "The countess (thus the hostess is termed) treats us right. But she's strict."

"How's that?"

"Well, we have to be on duty from ten to six and we can't make dates with anyone we meet here. A fella asked me to drive out to Long Island with him last night and do you think the countess would let me out? A hot night, too."

"Do you meet many men you like?"

"In this place? No! Nothing but suckers. If a decent guy comes in he's either too drunk to be any fun or he's on a party and has his own girl with him."

"Why do you work here, then, if it isn't any fun?"

"It's a job. I make plenty of dough. that's all."

Leona gets twenty per cent of every check she helps ring up. If a man comes into the countess' place alone or with other men the countess greets them, wisecracks, cheerio, hey-hey, and makes them feel at home and asks them if they'd like to meet some girls. They would, so she sends Leona and as many more as needed over to join them. Drinks are ordered.

Those served to the girls do not contain liquor. They look like drinks and they cost like drinks but they are only stage props,—orange set-ups, or cold tea without the stick. Now and then during the night if Leona or one of her co-workers needs a drink to keep her going it is served to her outside in the rest room. The countess sees that none of her girls drink too much.

Most of the girls have their own "fella's", according to Leona. The countess neither dictates nor investigates their private lives. Their job is to dress well, keep sober, amuse their designated customers, and see that they spend all they can.

FALSE ALARM.

Box 19 was sounded early Tuesday calling the firemen to the corner of Wilmington and Edison avenue. No fire was found in the vicinity.

SEEK TO RESTRAIN MISSISSIPPI

These men, Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Jackson, seated left; Major General Edgar Jadwin, standing, and, seated right, Carleton W. Sturtevant, civilian engineer, members of the U. S. flood control board, in session at New Orleans, have been hearing plans of engineers and private citizens to curb the Mississippi. Several of those heard have declared a spillway at Caernarvon, below New Orleans, would prevent any future danger of the city. Caernarvon was dynamited during the 1927 flood.

Italian Fliers Plan Return Hop

Will Fly Back To Italy From South America If Government Gives Assent

(International News Service)

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 11.—Captain Arturo Ferrarin and Major Carlo Del Prete, the Italion fliers who flew from Rome to Natal, Brazil, intend to make another non-stop flight back to Italy if they can get permission from their government, according to dispatches from Natal.

They are anxious to fly either from this city or Buenos Aires, Argentina, to the European continent, but have not received the approval of the Italian government as yet. A flight to Europe from either place would better the long distance record of 4,417 miles they set on their flight last week.

If they receive permission, the fliers will start their return flight as soon as their Savoia-64 monoplane, which was damaged in landing, can be repaired.

Miss Edna Winter In Third Rescue

When Frances Cary, aged 14, of 11 Borough Line street, went down for the second time last night about 8 o'clock in the deeper water at the McCleary avenue bathing beach on the Shenango river, Miss Edna Winters, aged 13, of McCleary avenue, who was standing on the bank, plunged into the steam, clothes and all, and swimming to the nearly exhausted girl, dove to the bottom of the river, secured the drowning girl and brought her in safety to the river bank, where she was soon restored by simple resuscitation methods employed by those on the scene.

A call for assistance was sent to the police station and Lieutenant Hillers, Detective John Young and Officer Letera rushed to the scene with one of the city pulmotors. They found the girl all right although in a weakened condition and did not need to use the pulmotor.

Miss Winters is establishing quite a record as a life saver this season, this being the third person that she has rescued in somewhat the same manner so far this year at the McCleary avenue beach.

Illinois Miners For Easier Scale

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 11.—Illinois members of the United Mine Workers Union will champion the lessening of the restrictions of the Jacksonville wage scale agreement so that greater freedom may be obtained in negotiating with coal operators to end the bituminous coal strike, Harry Fishwick, president of the Illinois branch of the United Mine Workers of America told International News Service today.

The statement came as the powerful policy committee of the miners union met here today in a session that many persons believed would determine the fate of the national bituminous coal strike.

Charges Threats Then Disappears

(International News Service)

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., July 11.—Police today sought Earl Richard, 45, father of seven children, who disappeared from his home near here shortly after leaving the office of Squire S. K. Hunger where he had made charge that Henry Smith, 60, and his sons, Robert, 25, and Raymond, 30, had threatened to kill him with ice tongs.

Members of the Smith family had previously made charges before Squire T. J. Ellwood of Leechburg, that Richard drew a knife on them.

Two Slight Auto Accidents Reported

Alfred G. Buckley, 721 East Long avenue, reported to the police Tuesday that he was backing out on Lincoln avenue from in front of the Cathedral, when his machine struck a car parked on the opposite side of the street. The damage done was not serious.

J. W. Hasenflu of 149 South Dock street, Sharon, Pa., reported Tuesday that he was driving south on Sankey street, when his machine was damaged on a street car crossing, which is in bad shape.

Of all the words that make girls glad, the pick are these: "Charge it to Dad."

Norris Refuses To Be Candidate

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Virtually the last threat of a serious third-party movement against Smith and Hoover faded today when Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, a formidable figure in the insurgent Republican rank, announced flatly that he would not be a presidential candidate on any ticket.

WOMAN HIT BY AUTO.

Norman Cochran of 409 Neshannock avenue, reported to the police today that he was driving his machine south on Mill street at Market Way, when a woman standing in the street was hit by his machine, which was going very slow at the time. The woman sustained a cut on the hand but declined to go to a physician stating that she was not seriously hurt.

Croton Playground Attractive Place

Attendance Daily Is Near 100—Many Activities Are Started

The first baseball game between the Croton avenue and Gaston Park playgrounds in the playground league, will be played next Wednesday, July 18, at the Croton A. C. grounds, announces Miss Helen Lyle, supervisor of the Croton playground this year.

According to Miss Lyle, baseball is the most popular sport with the older boys of her playground this summer, and reports have it that the Croton aggregation is working hard to defend its good name when the two teams meet next week.

The Croton playground is located near the old country club and ranks as one of the best in the city. During June the average daily attendance amounted to almost 80 persons.

All the usual playground equipment is to be found at this center, which is surrounded by small trees, planted last summer at a special program. The boys have fixed up a small tennis court for the benefit of those who enjoy that game. Smaller children may slide on the shoots, or they can play a round of golf on the new course that has been installed just recently.

"It is surprising to watch the boys do their handicraft problems," says Miss Lyle, who adds that "their work is very good." Girls are also interested in sewing, and like at all other city playgrounds, are being taught to make aprons, small dresses and a number of different things.

Mercer Expects Bumper Hay Crop

Exceptional Stand Of Grasses Is Reported At County Agent's Office

MERCER, Pa., July 11.—A bumper hay harvest will be garnered by Mercer county farmers if the weather remains hot and dry.

Both clover and timothy hay are ready for cutting.

An exceptional stand of both is reported at the Farm Bureau of Mercer county today.

Name Speakers For Vacation Period At Third Church

Rev. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third U. P. church, has secured a number of prominent ministers to occupy the pulpit during his vacation in the month of August.

On August 5, Rev. Thomas Gibson of Parnassus, Pa., will preach; August 12, Rev. J. A. McDonald of Youngstown; August 19, Rev. James M. McQuilken of Carnegie, and August 26, Rev. W. E. M. Copeland of Cuyahoga Falls, O.

These men have been heard in this city on previous occasions and no doubt will be greeted by large congregations when they return in August.

"JINX" PARTY IS PLANNED FRIDAY

The Pulaski District Sabbath School council will hold a "jinx" party at the home of Dr. Frederick Taylor near Pulaski on Friday evening, July 13. It is hoped that the turnout will be large, as a very enjoyable program has been arranged for the evening.

Start Drive To Aid Miners

Clothing And Other Donations Being Collected Here To Aid Strikers

BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL IN CHARGE

This is the first day for the collection of clothes and canned goods for the relief of the families of striking miners in the Allegheny valley and at the various fire stations a number of packages had come in at press time.

The collection is under the auspices of the Trades and Labor Assembly and the Building Trades Council. For the past ten days Thomas Morgan, business agent, has had committees working on the project and it hoped that the work of these committees will result in much clothing and food being left at the fire station today, tomorrow and Friday and Saturday.

Since April, 1927, the soft coal miners have been on strike and as a result their families are suffering from lack of food and clothing. In various cities throughout western Pennsylvania drives have been put on and food and clothing and money secured.

Every citizen in New Castle is urged to be a part of this food and clothing collection. Nearly everybody has some second hand clothes which can be used again and with the clothes, a few cans of such foodstuffs as beans, peas, corn, tomatoes, etc., will be appreciated.

Those who cannot donate food or clothing are asked to donate money and all cash contribution can be left in the business office of the New Castle News.

The drive opens today and lasts until Saturday night. Just bundle up your old clothes and leave them at the fire staion nearest your home. If you care to have them called for at your home, call Thomas Morgan at the Trades and Labor Assembly.

Freak Lightning Bolt Plays Havoc

MEADVILLE, July 11.—A freakish bolt of lightning played havoc at the home of Paul A. Webb, naturalist here last night. Webb was sitting in his automobile in front of the home when the bolt struck the windshield, boring a hole through the glass. Webb was not hurt. From the car the lightning traveled to the house, tore a hole in the building, broke windows on one side and broke dishes in the house. A tree near the house also was hit. Webb said a cigar he was smoking disappeared.

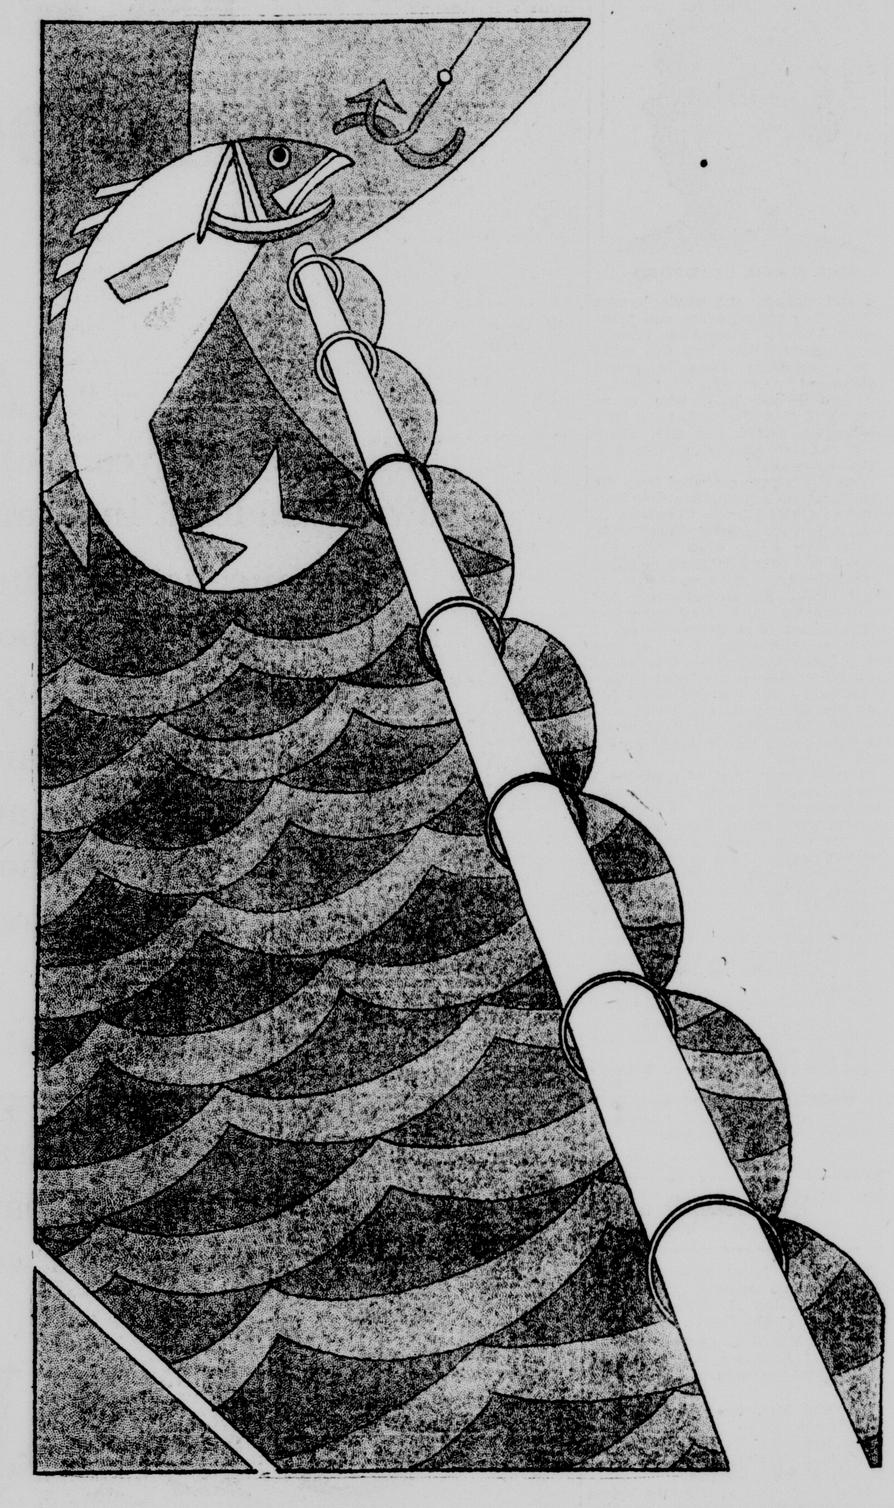
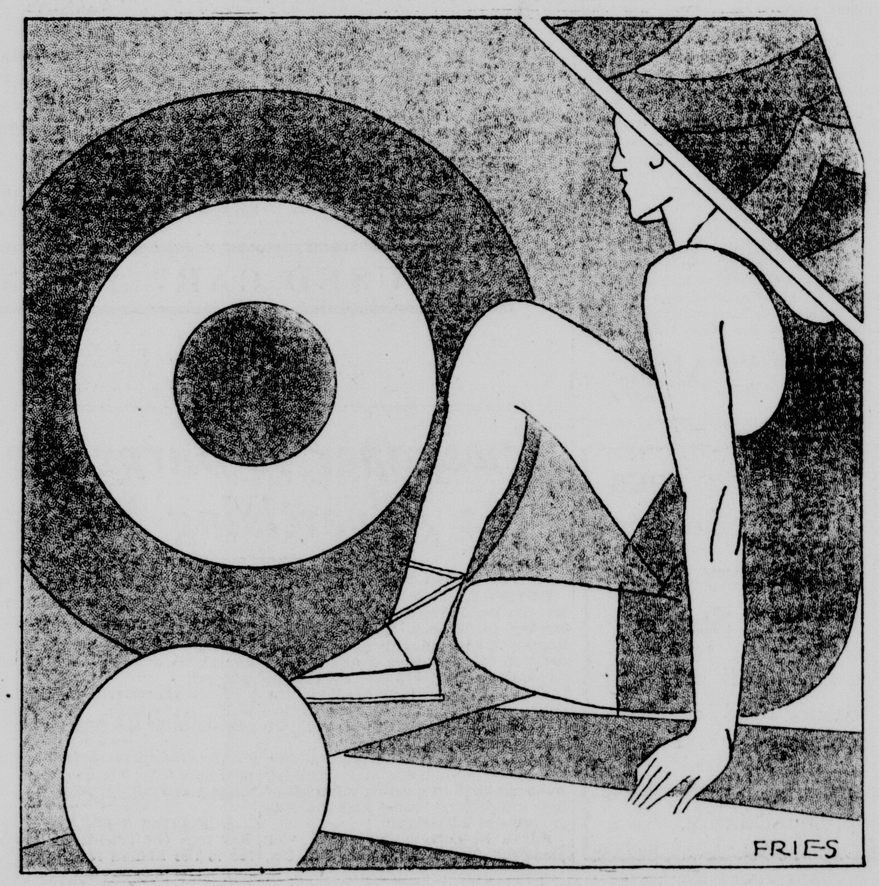
FISHER BROS.



DEFINITELY DECIDE TO ABANDON THE JULY CLEARANCE SALES

BECAUSE it is "Human to Error"—that's why clearance Sales are necessary. Fisher Brothers are human, yes, but the perfection of a stock-control method has eliminated these mistakes in the major. Instead of four seasons, Fisher Bros. have twelve. Once each month we sell-off our mistakes in an "End of the month Clearance." Today Fisher Bros. are sold out . . . we haven't any undesirable merchandise, any unfashionable styles, any old stocks to force out. We quicken our pace—We are buying new things for you — not trying to force old things upon you. BUT we are not going out and buy up manufacturers errors either. BUT we are going to manufacturers and having them "copy exactly" for us things popular at America's play-places. And because they are anxious to keep the wheels of industry moving, to keep their factories running, they are producing new things for Fisher Brothers at little or no profit.

CARNIVAL-TIME



AND INSTEAD FEATURE IN EXACT COPY FASHIONABLE THINGS . . .

. . . From Roosevelt Airport
. . . From Atlantic City Beach
. . . From Miami Beach
. . . From Honolulu Beach

CARNIVAL-TIME is not a sale in the ordinary sense of the word, although it is a selling of things away under priced. Not old things—but the things men and boy's want most—new furnishings, cool underwear, vacation and camp attire. No matter what your plans for the coming season—whether you are going away or staying at home, we are ready to supply you with the new things we have seen at Americas Carnival place. We are ready to supply them at Clearance price levels. As this announcement is written a force of mills are making for you "Exact Copies" of the new things reported favored at Americas leading play places. From day to day Fisher Bros. will offer replicas of fashionable things now popular at leading resorts.

Secretary Mellon Going To Europe

Will Take Part In Hoover Campaign Upon His Return

NEWS OF INTEREST AT U. S. CAPITAL

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon departs July 12 for a vacation in Europe and upon his return plans to get actively into the campaign for the election of the Hoover-Curtis ticket While in Europe Secretary Mellon is expected to decline many of the invitations to formal functions which have been tendered him as one of the outstanding members of the Coolidge cabinet. Upon his return to Washington Secretary Mellon will take up the adjustment of treasury affairs in preparation of a change in administration next March. The campaign speeches Mr. Mellon is expected to make will probably be in New York and Philadelphia although this program may be extended.

Approval of titles to three parcels of land in Pennsylvania which will be taken over by the federal government for forest reserve purposes has been made by the Department of Justice. The projects include 204 acres in Warren county at a cost of $1,039; 549 acres in Warren county at a cost of $7,754 and 144 acres in Elk Co. at a cost of $1,448.

Average costs of producing corn, wheat, oats and potato crops in various sections of the country differ greatly according to a survey just completed by the Federal Department of Agriculture. The figures for the 1927 crops show the average cost of producing a bushel of corn was 70 cents, wheat, $1,18; oats 54 cents and potatoes from 49 to 58 cents in the central and western states and from 72 to 80 cents in the eastern and southeastern states.

In establishing the corn production the reports from 4,778 farms were considered while 3,119 reported on wheat, 3,590 on oats and 1,179 on potatoes. The cost figures included charges for the labor of the farmer and his family and a charge for the use of his land on a cash-rental basis the farmer being credited for this time and investment.

The early clean-up work against the European corn borer which began the early part of May has been concluded according to the Department of Agriculture. The clean-up work was confined to areas where the infestation was greater than one borer to the hundred stalks of corn and included work in Erie, Crawford, Mercer and part of Warren county in Pennsylvania. The clean-up work in most sections was compulsory but the department reported hearty co-operation from Pennsylvania farmers in the infested areas.

An investigation of the domestic production of hats and hat bodies of wool felt for women has been ordered by the United States Tariff commission at the request of Pennsylvania and New York manufacturers. The investigation is to be conducted by W. S. Lewis, textile specialist who will report to the commission so that it can consider American production costs in conjunction with the application for readjustment of tariff rates on similar felt hats imported chiefly from Italy.

Pennsylvania ranked second among the states in the number of hunters' licenses issued in 1927 and in the amount of revenue received according to a compilation just announced by the State Department of Agriculture. The report shows more than 5,750,000 licenses to hunt, producing a revenue of $7,800,000 issued to the sportsmen of the United States and Alaska. New York state led with 620,414 licenses and $822,415 revenue and Pennsylvania had 524,078 licenses and $649,549.10 in revenue. Ohio was third and was closely followed by Michigan and Washington.

An investigation of the grading and diversion of American grain exports is now being conducted by four federal agencies in order that complaints made by American shipping interests may be solved. It is charged that the diversion of American grain to Montreal and other Canadian ports has resulted on account of the frequent grading of at least one grade higher at Montreal than at United States ports. The practice it is contended tends to injure the prestige of American grain in the foreign markets.

Agents of the United States Tariff commission are making an investigation of the cost of production of potatoes in Canada and in Maine, New York and Michigan. Canada is now said to be the principal competitor to the American potato growers and out of 315,700,000 pounds of potatoes imported in 1927 almost 95 per cent came from Canada.

Congressman Clyde Kelly of McKeesport is going to press at the next session of congress his bill to permit cabinet members the privilege of the floor in the house and senate.

Expenditures for new building projects in a survey of 257 cities were lower in 1927 than in any year since 1923 according to a report of the Department of Labor.

Fewer Motor Buses Licensed In State

Change Is Noted In Type Of Buses Given State Permits This Year

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, July 11. — Comparative figures of the State Highway Department for the first six months of this year disclose some interesting facts about the number of omnibuses registered in Pennsylvania.

The number of motor buses licensed in the State for the first six months of 1928 was 6975 or a decrease of 256 from the same period of last year. Just what caused this decline officials are at a loss to know.

The number of applications for motor bus certificates continue to come in to the Public Service Commission. In addition permission was granted during this period to the Reading Company to operate the first of its bus lines.

While the total number of motor bus licenses shows a decline in this period the licenses granted to motor omnibuses increased. Strange as it may seem the increase is the same as the decrease in the other class of buses. During the first six months of 1928 the number issued was 857 and a year ago the number was 601.

The "H" class of tags are issued to buses hauling school children and those engaged in inter-state traffic. Most of the increase in "H" tags is attributed to the large number of buses now using Pennsylvania highways in inter-state travel.

Despite a decrease in the number of "C" tags which are issued to taxi companies, jitneys and that type of conveyance the revenue to the State showed an increase. For the first half of this year the income was $279,289 while during the same period of 1927 it was $259,309. The school and inter-state buses produced $40,022 from January 1 to June 30 or an increase of $14,367 over last year.

IS FREED FROM TERRIBLE PAINS OF RHEUMATISM

Neuritis Gone; Whole System Cleansed By Ten Herbs, Mahoning Road Lady Says

Ten Herbs probably has gone into more homes in this city and throughout this section than any other medicine. The reason for its tremendous success is due to the fact that it does not act on one organ alone, but benefits and cleanses the whole human system, thus ending aches and pains arising from a clogged-up system. Many reports telling how this great natural medicine promptly ended rheumatism and neuritis are reaching the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily demonstrating this new herbal compound.

MRS. MAMIE CRAWFORD

"Ten Herbs gave me relief from the awful pains of rheumatism and neuritis," said Mrs. Mamie Crawford, R. F. D. 2, Mahoning Road, New Castle, to the Ten Herbs Man. "No one knows how I suffered," continued Mrs. Crawford, who is 63 years of age. "I could hardly get around—could not go up or down stairs—because my feet and ankles were so badly swollen. I had to be careful what I ate, as food did not digest properly. Gas would bloat me and cause my heart to palpitate until I would be frightened. My liver was disordered; and I was constipated. My kidneys were not working right, and I was in agony all the time.

"I tried every kind of medicine I heard of, but Ten Herbs was the only one that gave me relief. I began to improve while taking the first bottle; and now all the swelling has left my feet and ankles. I am as energetic as I ever was, and can eat anything without having any distress afterwards. My liver is active, and my bowels regular. My kidneys function properly, and my whole system seems to have been cleansed by your medicine. I gladly give Ten Herbs my endorsement."

Ten Herbs is widely used and highly recommended for the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and as a tonic for young and old.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

A
"used car"
is unused
transportation

A GOOD automobile is built to stand years of use; but the average first owner trades it in after only two years.

This means that there are many thousands of miles of unused transportation which may be bought at a low price and enjoyed by the second owner.

While not all the cars that are now being traded-in are relatively new, among them you will find opportunities in cars whose intrinsic value is greater than their selling price — a fact which millions of families have already discovered.

Because of the great volume of new cars sold by General Motors dealers, their stocks of cars taken in trade offer a wide range of used car values. And the GMAC Plan of payments is available for the purchase of used as well as new cars.

Newspaper Is Surpreme As Advertising Medium

(International News Service)

DETROIT, July 11.—Newspapers are the best advertising medium according to William H. Rankin, nationally known advertising man. He declared in an address before the international advertising association that, as an advertising medium, the newspaper's place is more secure today than at any time in the last twenty-five years.

Rankin said that during the last five years newspapers "have emerged triumphantly" in meeting all kinds of new competition—radio and the other forms of advertising.

Edwin R. Dibrell, executive vice president of the R. H. Macy & Co., Inc., of New York, told the convention that many merchants have arrived at the conclusion that advertisements of special sales based on price appeal "is extremely limited in usefulness."

"Price appeal is no longer all-powerful," he asserted. "It must be supplemented by the style appeal."

An experienced cashier is one who automatically elevates his hands when a stranger appears.

A pessimist is one who thinks the lost race the scientists keep looking for is the human race.

Train Trips Disclose Many-Sided America

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News

WASHINGTON, July 11.—One thing's to be said in favor of our national conventions. They're vastly educational. At least they offer a wonderful educational opportunity. How generally the convention delegates profit by it I don't know. They have the chance, anyway.

Each of the various sections of this country, in reality, is a country by itself—a big country, too.

New England, the more southerly group of eastern states, the easterly and westerly groups of middle commonwealths, the Pacific coast, the southeast and the southwest, differ from one another in most physical characteristics, and in their populations, as much as any equivalent number of European countries and peoples do.

A union of states?—a union of nations is what we are.

Houston is at least as unlike Kansas City as Madrid is unlike Amsterdam. They're far more unlike one another than Rio de Janeiro is unlike Buenos Aires. Rio's Portuguese is hardly more different from Buenos Aires' Spanish than "K. C.'s" crisp western accent is different from Houston's soft southern drawl.

A Texan's outlook on life no more resembles a Vermonter's than an Italian's resembles a Swede's.

I met, in Houston, an old friend from Iowa, who had moved to the Lone Star State, dabbling in oil. He was as alien to his environment as he'd have been in the Caucasus.

In only a few superficial aspects are Kansas City and Houston alike.

They have a good many municipal problems in common—so have Nome and Cape Town. Both have the skyscraper craze—with all outdoors to expand in, if they choose. Both bulge with civic pride.

These similarities are only skin deep.

Essentially, you could no more confuse "K. C." and Houston than you could confuse Vladivostock and Kalamazoo.

Grand Rapids, Des Moines, Fort Wayne, Peoria, Youngstown!—all more or less in the same grand division!—having seen 'em in rapid succession, you might have trouble in remembering which was which. But Kansas City and Houston?—by no possibility could the most casual visitor ever get 'em mixed.

You take a train out of Houston for Washington—with a 48-hour ride ahead—a ride beginning in the United States and ending in the United States. You can cross half a dozen European countries—some of them quite important—in the same time.

You board your sleeper at Houston, in the tropics—palms waving all around—perspiration running in streams. You're whisked away, over a single-track line—Texas railroads are all single track, as in the quaternary age—across a seemingly limitless, but slowly rising, plain. The towns you pass are far apart and pewees, at that.

Slowly population thickens as you traverse Arkansas and Missouri. New kinds of passengers get on and off.

Arkansas no more duplicates Texas, Missouri no more duplicates Arkansas, Illinois and Indiana no more duplicate Missouri than Germany duplicates France, or than Hungary duplicates Germany, or than the Balkans duplicate Hungary.

Then you cross the line into Ohio—an older civilization.

Then Pennsylvania—you're not out of one town before you're entering another. Next northern Maryland—one big suburb—and finally you get off at the capital—into a new world.

All this time you haven't begun to see the United States. You haven't even crossed it one way. You've barely skirted one edge.

Once I had occasion to journey from London to Constantinople.

The expedition carried me through southern England, across Germany and Austria-Hungary (this was before the war), and Serbia, Bulgaria and Turkey, down to the Bosphorus—seven or eight countries, all told, in about the time required to get back to Washington from the Houston convention.

Naturally we were bothered by customs examinations all the time.

We paid for our meals in a half dozen different kinds of coin, losing money at every exchange.

The confusion of tongues on that train suggested static on the radio.

As we climbed aboard after one of our custom house stops a fellow tourist turned to me—an "international" whose radical origin it was hard to guess—and said:

"America!—a marvelous country!—numbers!—bottomless resources!—one government—one people!—one money!—no frontiers!"

SCREECH OWL IS CAPTURED

Scouts Capture Bird And Keep It For Short Time Then Set It Free

The capture of a screech owl by Scouts Bob McWilliams and Herb McClure provided an opportunity for close study of this feathered fellow by the Scouts at Camp John M. Phillips. Camp Director LeRoi Norton was bombarded with questions about the nature and the habits of this bird, which is often heard but seldom seen.

The owl was kept overnight, offered a nest of field mice for breakfast and after being photographed by a dozen boys was allowed to wing his way back to the woods.

Monday evening's campfire was exceptional for a first night performance. Bill Wheeler, Herb McClure, Melvin Caplin, Jim Ryhal, Bill McBurney, Vance Glenn, Jack Ball, Godfrey Moore and George Winter were the "pep producers", and their offerings were well received by the rest of the campers.

Hut W. H. Goehring, Dan Boone Stockade, under the leadership of Baldy Watson, took the honor banner for inspection. The Dan Boones were strong last period, winning consistently in both games and inspection. Scouts in the honor hut are Charles Davis, Charles Criss, Dick McClure, Hans Holm and Thomas Rodgers.

The boys who are in camp for the second period are nearly all old-timers, and the way that they enjoy themselves would astonish many people. The following Scouts completed merit badge requirements Tuesday: Dan Ryan, bookbinding; Jack Ball and Jack Stevenson, animal industry; Thomas Rodgers, cooking, and Junior Brown, woodwork.

Jack Hulme, swimming instructor, is in camp this period and will give instruction and examinations in lifesaving to a group of 20 boys.

The high point scorer for Tuesday was James Ullom of Ellwood City, with 175 honor points. Clyde Shannon of New Castle was second with 110 honor points.

Cemetery Petting Parties Are National Problem

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—Petting parties in cemeteries is a national problem, W. B. Jones, secretary of American Cemetery Superintendents, said today in discussing the complaint of Rev. A. J. Weisenberger of New Castle that young people were using St. Joseph's cemetery for their love-making.

Cities such as New York, Chicago, Cleveland and Cincinnati, he said, have gone so far as to close their gates to automobiles after five p. m.

Superintendent Jones stated that his files were filled with letters in regard to the situation. He specified one instance where it was reported that nocturnal petters broke the locks and forced the gates of a cemetery at Newcomerstown, O.

A Uniontown cemetery, he said, has found it necessary to string electric lights over its inviting nooks.

DISCUSSES BRIDGES.

Editor, The News,
Dear Sir:

I see that the long talked bridge over the Neshannock is about to be a reality, which will be a very nice improvement. However, I would like to tell you, or more especially the City Council, and the County Commissioners my opinion of the project.

Improvements of this kind are fine for a city or a county that is out of debt. But where there are so many other places in both city and county that need immediate repairs, I must say the actions of the two bodies of men, the council and the commissioners, are very partial as to what side of the city they spend the tax payer's money on. It seems to me they change their minds very often.

Last fall council passed an ordinance to pave or repair West Washington street, west of the river. They notified the traction company to put down their new track during the winter so that the street could be paved in the spring. I suppose the traction company said: "No," for that is the last I have seen or heard of it. The street is a disgrace to the city. It is dangerous to run an automobile over it. About 23 years ago it was paved. The bricks were laid on dirt with a thin layer of sand over it, and no concrete was used at all, as there were no trucks in the city at that time to ruin it with their heavy loads.

I also have seen in the paper last summer that the bridges over the Shenango river on West Washington street was past repairing, and that there should be a new one built at once. This statement had the city or county engineer's name attached to it. I saw myself where they repaired it the last time that the iron work under the floor was about rusted away.

Will our worthy servants please stand one or two hundred feet from either end of this bridge and cast an eye over it, comparing the width of the bridge to that of the street? The bridge is 15 or 20 feet narrower than the street. All traffic must drive on the street car tracks.

This bridge is an eyesore to our city, and at the same time, it is one of the most used bridges in the city. Let us get together and build an actual bridge at this point as wide as the street and not too wide a sidewalk. Give cartway for vehicles plenty of room. Let us come out in the open and examine the books carefully, thinking seriously of our debts which are many and large.

Drop the Neshannock bridge and take up the Shenangb bridge!

Very truly for a square deal,
W. W. WALLS.

Sixty Boys At Y. M. C. A. Camp

Lads Out Along Slippery Rock Are Having Fine Time

MANY SPORTS ARE ENJOYED

Almost 60 boys at the Y. W. C. A. camp on the Slippery Rock creek have started the second week of their fortnight at the camp, and the same 60 boys describe it as one of the best times they ever had.

Many and wierd are the amusements cudgeled up in the brains of the camp directors for the boys. Monday evening Captain Bob Wilkins led his team to a glorious tie over Herb Christman's Mud Hens in a mud football game. The game was featured by brilliant plunges and splashing tackles. When the final whistle blew, the score stood at 30 to 30.

Sunday afternoon there were so many visitors at the camp that the parade ground looked like a parking field. At the vesper services the boys were addressed by O. S. Goodwin, former New Castle Boys' Work secretary, and C. W. Irwin of the First Methodist Episcopal Sunday school.

Since they have been in camp, a volley ball and a base ball league have been organized by the boys. Following are the standings:

Baseball

	W.	L.	Pct.
Pirates	2	0	1.000
Dutch Tubs	2	0	1.000
Cubs	1	1	.500
Yankees	1	1	.500
River Sockers	0	2	.000
Home Run Specials	0	2	.000

The volley ball league:

Pirates	5	1
Cubs	4	2
Home Run Specials	3	3
Yankees	3	3
Dutch Tubs	2	4
River Sockers	1	5

The ten assignments, and the tent leaders, with their assistants, follows:

Tent 1—Bill Pherson, leader; Ralph Davies, assistant; Jim Pherson, Bob McLaren, Ray McLaren, Gethin Thomas, Bill Shira and Bob Miner.

Tent 2—Ed. Chapman, leader; Jimmie Dart, assistant; Don Freeman, Bill McCormick, Kenneth Jerry, Russell Young, and Junior Phares.

Tent 3—James Goodchild, leader; Bill Dunlap, assistant; Don McIntosh, Victor Marino, Fred Taylor, Charles Slack, Ulmdson Hemmingway, Jack Fix and Fames Fos.

Tent 4—Ralph Teets, leader; John Thompson, assistant; Jim Allen, Frank Faller, Joe Fisher, Reed McCaskey, Jim Easter, and Willis Raney.

Tent 5—Bill Hart, leader; Ed Fritz, assistant; Bill Houston, Jim Houston, Charles Kennedy, Dick Pugh, Wilbur Stevens, and George Stevens.

Tent 6—Bob Wilkins, leader; Herb Christman, assistant; Charles Perelman, Albert Perelman, Carl Wentzel, Bud W. Wharton, and Bill Duff.

Put One Over On Mayor Jimmie Out In Hollywood, Cal.

Tell Him Event Is Hour Earlier Than Scheduled; He Gets There On Time

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 11.—Mayor James Walker of New York City today found that he had been outjockeyed. Whether or not a board of stretegy went into conference to formulate plans for getting the mayor to a function on time, is not known—but that, nevertheless, is what happened. In fact, he got there five minutes ahead of time.

It appears as if someone left the impression with the mayor that the luncheon given in his honor at First National studios was to be at noon yesterday. It began, however, at 1 o'clock, and the mayor arrived at 12:55. After delivering an apology for his supposed tardiness, Mayor Walker discussed the time element at some length.

"It is recorded in the vital statistics of New York City," he explained, "that I did not arrive on earth on time.

"I have never seen the man who could guarantee the exact moment at which I am to take my departure from this world, so why worry about being on time in between these two events?

"Making time count is more important that counting time."

Major Steinmetz Dies At Germantown

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.—Major Joseph A. Steinmetz, 58, first president of the Aero Club of Pennsylvania and widely known inventor, died suddenly at his home in Germantown today after a short illness.

Major Steinmetz was well known throughout the east for his active support of aeronautics and was one of the first men to fly in America. He was a member of the Pennsylvania aviation commission, which promulgates state laws governing aviation and the chamber of commerce aviation committee.

He was also a former president of the Engineers club and a world-renowned stamp collector, philatelists placing the value of his collection at many thousands of dollars.

Wife Who Testified Elderly Woman Deprived Her Of Husband's Affections To Use Money On Music

Mrs. Elsie Grimm Schwarz and her three children.

By MADELIN LEOF
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 11.—A love piracy suit between a wife of 25 and a widow of 78 will end in a musical education for the hurt wife and a loss of $18,000 for the alleged wealthy widow. Mrs. Elsie Grimm Schwarz, the pretty young wife and mother of three small children, sued for $100,000 as a balm for the lost love of her husband, William Schwarz, a member of a hotel orchestra here, aged 33, and the jury ruled to give her $18,000.

This money, Mrs. Schwarz says, she will use to complete her musical education in Europe. "I want to resume my interrupted musical career in America," Mrs. Schwarz said, "and finish it in Europe. I think my husband is playing a piano on a boat running between New York and South America. I have not seen him for some months."

Widow Prostrated.

The Schwarzs were married in 1920 and lived happily until the summer of 1924, when it is said Mrs. Sweitzer, the 78-year-old widow, appeared on the scene, weaned the young husband away from his wife, and broke up their home, the wife asserts. Her weapons consisted of ardent love letters and gifts of jewelry, a piano, and the offer of a trip to Europe for a musical education, provided she accompanied the young man, according to the plaintiff.

The defendant never appeared in court. A woman from the office of Mrs. Sweitzer's lawyer testified that when she went to the widow's room in a hotel here, she found her prostrate in bed, refusing to see anyone or to let anyone see her.

Nevertheless, the plaintiff produced letters allegedly from the widow and testified that she could produce more if her husband were here, and that these letters would strengthen her case to the $100,000 value which she claimed.

How She Won Him.

The letters were all of an endearing nature, mentioning liquor parties, popular songs and love and affection.

After the court decision Mrs. Schwarz said: "I do not intend to seek a divorce from my husband, but I probably will never return to him.

"I never saw Mrs. Sweitzer except once, when she came limping into our apartment and begged to be allowed to become one of the family. I have no grudge against her, but I blame her more than I do my husband. She knew his weakness was money, and she played on that by offering him money and gifts. We were happy before she entered and spoiled our married life."

Bandits Surrender Down In Nicaragua

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Rear Admiral David F. Sellers, in charge of the special service squadron in Nicaraguan waters, advised the navy department today of the surrender of 186 bandits at Octotal.

On July 7, a contingent of 120 "self-confessed bandits" entered the town unarmed and asked for amnesty. Two days later another group of 66 followed.

School Board Decides To Start Home Classes For Foreign Mothers

Project Brought Forward Some Time Ago By Woman's Club Of This City

Many New Teachers Elected To Fill Vacancies For Fall Term Of School

ELLWOOD CITY, July 11.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Ellwood City Board of Education which took place Tuesday evening in their room in the Lincoln school building, an item of interest was the decision of the Board to open classes for foreign mothers' training during the next term of school. This project was fostered by the members of the Womens club through Miss Lucy Glass, a state worker. Mrs. Thomas Haines, president of the club, visited the Board some time ago, and assured them that the money for payment of such a teacher would be available. At last night's meeting the Board decided to put in such a class, provided they have the assurance in writing, of the necessary funds.

The following teachers were recommended by the Educational committee for places on the teaching staff for the fall term of school: In the grades, Miss Lucille Fisher, $900; Miss Josephine Humphrey, $1,000 and Miss Mildred George, $1,000. H. H. Barthalamew, teacher and coach of the High school at a salary of $17,000; Miss Martha Williams, high school, $1350; Miss Lois Roach, high school, $1500 and Miss Charlotte Williams, high school, $1500. The committee also recommended Miss Mildred Sanders for principal of the Central school, housing the Seventh grade pupils, at a raise in salary from $1400 to $1500. Miss Isabel Merriman is re-elected as Secretary to the high school principal at a salary of $75 per month and Miss Mary Hemmerly, secretary to the Superintendent at a salary of $125 per month.

There was some little discussion regarding the collection of school taxes, and the amount of time that should be allotted the collector. Members of the Finance committee expect $5,000 more in taxes in the next two weeks.

Members of the Building committee reported that signs have been placed about the various vacant school buildings, warning people that anyone damaging the school property to any extent is liable to a $50 fine. They also reported that the painting on the North Side school building was completed, and one half of the Hartman school. Some of the janitors who are doing the work are going on vacations, so the Board recommended that other painters be hired.

The committee suggested that a man be hired as janitor of the West End School, approved; also a janitor for the Central school; three women and two men for the Lincoln High school and that the athletic field should be locked as the bleachers are being defaced with hatchets. The above requests were granted by the board.

At the request of the Building committee members of the Board decided to request the secretary to advertise for bids on widening the side walks about the Lincoln and Hartman school buildings, bringing them to the curb, making them better able to cope with the 2,000 school children who pour over the walk daily.

Dorcas Class Is Entertained At Jones Home Tuesday

ELLWOOD CITY, July 11. — Fifteen members of the Dorcas class of the First Baptist church were entertained at a monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Elizabeth and Miss Ann Jones of Spring avenue.

A short business meeting was conducted at which time the members planned for a picnic two weeks from Saturday near Middle Lancaster.

Later delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses and a social period was enjoyed.

Mrs. Robert Snedden Is Club Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, July 11. — Mrs. Robert Snedden of Wayne avenue entertained eight members of the Knit-a-Bit club Tuesday afternoon at her home. The affair was in the nature of a porch party, and the ladies spent an enjoyable interval in sewing and informal discussion. Later delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter Mrs. Frances Bracken.

In two weeks the club members will be guests of Mrs. John Cobler and Mrs. Harry Parthemore at their home in Rockdale for a breakfast. That evening the husbands will be special guests at a chicken dinner at the Cobler home.

"Joan of Art"

Pretty Betty Robbins, of Los Angeles, has been chosen as "Joan of Art" by the Music and Radio Trades Association and will travel in the interest of Southern California's musical attainments. She is to visit virtually all of the larger cities of the United States as a lecturer and recitalist.

Quotarians Hear Convention Reports

ELLWOOD CITY, July 11. — Members of the local Quota club enjoyed a dinner-meeting Tuesday evening in the Methodist church. The chief item of business were various reports read by heads of committees concerning the recent convention in Davenport, Iowa. Mrs. Lillian Thomas, official delegate to the convention, sent home the data, which was enjoyed by the members.

The club plans to have a picnic meeting later, which will be the last meeting until fall.

New Castle Boys Picked For Band

Five Already Have Places On C. M. T. C. Band At Fort Washington

By FRED BLAHA,
(Special To The News)

FORT WASHINGTON, July 9.—If the future ability of the Citizen's Military Training camp band can be judged by the start made, prospects are very bright for one of the best boys band ever organized in a military camp.

New Castle musicians are sprinkled here and there throughout the outfit, with Philip Winter and Harry Madducks on trumpet, Joe McGaffic on clarinet, John Dobelek on trombone, and Russ Johnston beating the base drum. New Castle will probably be better represented than any other city. Several others intend to join after instruments have been secured for them.

Today the oath of allegiance was administered to all recruits. At the same time it was their privilege to see the regulars at the post present a review, in honor of General Wells and highest in command of U. S. army and Congressman Kendall of Western Pennsylvania. Both of these men delivered speeches, coinsiding with their wishes for building up C. M. T. C. camps. In addition to this the United States army band rendered a few selections which were received with great applause.

A system of compulsory athletics has been inaugurated. All students are required to sign up for some type of sport, so that play may be worked in along with the work. The list to choose from comprises many various lines, from golf to football, swimming seems to be the favorite sport with the fellows.

Tomorrow a kitchen police detail has been assigned the writer so without doubt, the next report will be one of war.

A student's day begins at 5:30 a. m. and ends at 9:30 p. m. with lights out. At various intervals some mess calls, sick call, drill calls and taps. Movies and sight-seeing trips are main sources of amusement, although a hostess house has been established in the camp area, where candidates find easy chairs, writing material and desks (a decided pastime) books and periodicals. Here the camp hostess and her assistants are glad to welcome any fellow and make him feel at home.

Warner And Lyon Receive Ovation On Return Home

Southern Cross Fliers Greeted By Thousands As They Land At San Francisco

MAYOR JAMES ROLPH OFFICIAL GREETER

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—After participating in one of the most thrilling flights in the history of aviation, Harry Lyon and James Warner, navigator and radio operator of the Southern Cross, returned to the United States from Australia today, to receive a roaring welcome.

On May 31, these two flyers, with Pilots Kingsford-Smith and Lum, the intrepid Australians, started their epic flight to the country "down under." There were but few who thought the 7,800-mile flight, all of it practically over water, would terminate successfully.

The flyers steamed into San Francisco bay this morning, while dozens of planes circled overhead. City officials and friends of the airmen clambered aboard the Malolo when the vessel was made fast at its berth, and a short time later Lyon and Warner were to head a triumphal parade up Market street.

At the city hall, Mayor James Rolph, Jr., will officially welcome the flyers home.

Crookston 2 Up On H. C. Fownes

(International News Service)

OAKMONT, PITTSBURGH, July 11.—W. C. Fownes, Jr., Oakmont veteran, was leading George Flinn, Jr., youthful Fox Hills sensation, 7 up at the turn after nine holes in the semi-final match play for the Pennsylvania Amateur Golf championship here today.

Jimmy Crookston, of Stanton Heights, was 2 up on H. C. Fownes II, at the turn, and the younger Fownes was in danger of losing what earlier had appeared to be a good chance to play his father for the title.

Young Flinn's showing on the first nine was disappointing, while the veteran Oakmonter was piling up a lead which promised to bring him into the finals without difficulty.

Exporters Look To Manchuria As New Field For U. S. Manufacturers

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 11.—J. F. McKeon, counsel of exporters who recently returned from a tour of the east told at a meeting here of the great opportunity for American trade in Manchuria and of the great migratory movement there, unparalleled in world's history.

"A human tide of Chinese immigrants at the rate of 2,000 a day is pouring in" said McKeon "and at least 2,000,000 refugees will take advantage of Manchuria's hospitality within a year. Under the civilized influence of the South Manchurian railroad is maintained the most peaceful law abiding and progressive zone in Asia."

Fourth Of July Accident Kills Boy

CAMDEN, N. J. July 11.—Ernest Lechner 12 is dead at the Cooper hospital today from lockjaw which developed from an apparently minor Fourth of July accident.

The wadding from a blank cartridge struck the boy in the left hand causing a slight injury. Sunday he became ill. Monday he developed a fever and his jaws began to tighten and he died early today.

How To Name Lake Becomes Problem

Connecticut Artificial Lake May Be Named After Noted Patriot

(International News Service)

DANBURY, Conn., July 11.—A 40-mile artificial stretch of water impounded by a power company miles north of this city, is giving residents of a large stretch of western Connecticut a lot of interest, and the thousands of summer visitors much fun because of a search for a name.

The name-hunt was climaxed when, after suggestions for an Indian name were made, the only one available was found to be "Lake Naromiyochnowhusunkataushank." Previously the battle for a name was tied between "Candlewood", suggested by New Milford people in whose town the lake chiefly is, and "Danbury", advertised by local merchants.

A compromise may be reached with the name of "Roger Sherman" after a noted Connecticut patriot and signer of declaration. The lake itself is the largest artificial body of water in New England and furnishes a new sports locality for summer residents, who are colonizing its shores.

School Children Compete On Piano

National Piano Tournament Will Come To Climax During 1933

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 11—Plans were announced here today by the piano industry of Chicago for a national piano playing tournament open to children of school age everywhere in the United States.

Conducted annually, these national contests will have their grand climax in an international piano playing tournament during the Chicago World's Fair in 1933.

Chicago issued its challenge to the nation after a local tournament of more than 6,000 school children. The finals held at the Palmer House under the auspices of the Chicago Herald and Examiner were played before an audience of 3,000. A shoe maker's daughter, 15-yaer-old Johanna Siragusa, was acclaimed champion of Chicago.

Addle-pated Paris Visitors May Be Able To Sleep On Boat Trains

(International News Service)

PARIS, July 11.—Sleeping cars in day trains may be the next step in the campaign to make France popular with the tourists from overseas. Local steamship managers admit this possibility.

Before returninfg the homeward night of it in the Montmartre or Montparnasse districts. If his boat-train leaves in the morning he is in sore need of some rest. Hence steamship companies receive daily requests for sleeping accommodations on the morning boat trains.

Prohibs Against Coalition With Other Candidates

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 11.—"No coalition with the Farmer-Labor party on candidates." This was the general attitude of leaders of the prohibition party convention as it went into its second day at the LaSalle hotel here today.

Here were three plans before the convention, each with approximately the same amount of support from the less than 200 delegates present. They are:

1.—Make no nominations for president and vice president.

2.—Endorse Hoover and Curtis and a prohibition platform.

3.—Pick a Southern Democrat to head the ticket.

In the event the latter program is followed, the discussion was that Tom Love of Dallas, Texas, well known dry Democratic leader in the south and the man who tried to lead a bolt from the Houston convention, should be picked as nominee.

Americans Urge Reforms In Cuba

TIME AND AGAIN THE UNITED STATES TRIED TO BRING PEACE TO WAR-TORN CUBA BY URGING SPAIN TO MAKE CONCESSIONS TO THE CUBAN INSURGENTS, BUT SPAIN REFUSED TO GRANT THE MUCH-NEEDED REFORMS WHILE THE CUBANS REMAINED IN ARMS.

IN 1878 THE "TEN YEARS' WAR" CAME TO AN END. THE REVOLUTIONISTS CEASED FIGHTING AFTER GENERAL MARTINEZ CAMPOS, THE SPANISH COMMANDER, HAD PROMISED THE CUBANS SELF-GOVERNMENT IN LOCAL AFFAIRS, LIBERAL SUFFRAGE AND THE ADMISSION OF CUBANS TO OFFICE.

BUT THE SPANISH PARTY IN CUBA, COMPOSED OF THE WEALTHY LANDLORDS AND MERCHANTS WHO BENEFITED BY SPANISH RULE, WAS UNWILLING TO HAVE THE MASS OF CUBANS SHARE IN THE GOVERNMENT, AND THROUGH ITS INFUENCE THE PROMISED REFORMS WERE WITHHELD.

THE MAJORITY OF CUBANS, COWED BY YEARS OF SPANISH TYRANNY AND OPPRESSION, MADE LITTLE PROTEST, BUT THE FORMER INSURGENTS KEPT THEIR ORGANIZATION AND WAITED FOR THE CHANCE TO STRIKE A TELLING BLOW FOR FREEDOM.

America's Best Go To Amsterdam

To Enter International Contests At Olympic Games On July 29

EXPECT BIG THINGS FROM PICKED TEAM

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, July 11.—To a farewell flutter of flags and the strident voice of a harbor set upon making the day hideous with its adieux; America's newest army of expedition will set sail at noon today on the steamship President Roosevelt, bound for Amsterdam.

To make an announcement of this nature during those days of 1917-18 would have been a tacit invitation to the firing squad. There were no farewells then; merely a whispered word to go, a wordless handshake or two and off they went in the dead of night, their identity known only to themselves, their destination often a secret to those in command. But that was war.

The American Olympic team, handpicked flower of a nation's athletic life, is the expeditionary force that is sailing this time. Not war, now; conquest, perhaps, but only in the name of sportsmanship. For this is peace and those identified with the argosy are ambassadors of international good will.

They will arrive in Amsterdam nine days hence, pitch their camp on shipboard in the harbor and there, with training and diet and healthful rest, make ready for the start of the great international meeting on July 29. Few American teams have been better prepared for the ordeal. Few have been sounder in team strength. But a staff of famous coaches and trainers is aware of the dangers that threaten their team's efficiency and those nine days at sea and the ensuing seance of foreign preparation in a town that is three metres below sea level, will be an anxious period, indeed, for Lawson Robertson and the coaching staff in general. Many a perfect race may be left on shipboard or in the humid atmosphere of Amsterdam before the gun goes off.

However, the American Olympic committee and the coaches have had trouble enough to date, what with the Paddock case and Lloyd Hahn's desire to go abroad weeks in advance, without borrowing more. Those in command are willing today to rest their case, content in the belief that the future can be far from dark. Paddock, charged inopportunely with professionalism, has been squared overnight. Hahn has been placated. The rest of the outfit is as ready as human limitations can assure it.

The team looks like one that will not have to depend on the field events to bring it victory as was the case in 1924 at Paris. Indeed, the present squad may even lack some of the former's balance in the field. But, if it does, its greater strength on the track should more than overcome this factor. It is an excellent bet that this team will win more than one "flat" race, the inevitable indictment lodged against America's victory in 1924.

Our sprinters, headed by the great Wykoff, Paddock and Borah, are second to none; we have two relays teams that figure to be faster than the 1924 squads and both of these were good enough to win in record time. Barbuti, Snider, Phillips and Tierney are at least the equal of the 400-metre men at Paris, while the presence of Hahn in the 800 and 1,500-metre races means that America has a better chance to win these events than at any time since the heydey of Sheppard and Meredith.

All four of the steeplechasers are yards superior to the 1924 representatives. This statement applies, too, to Leo Lermond, Macauley Smith and Dave Abbott in comparison with our last 5,000-metre entry. We are not quite so hopeless at 10,000-metres with Ray in there and Joe's presence in the marathon squad gives us a bona-fide hope for a victory in the long race.

The 110 metre hurdle entry is good as in 1924, the 400-metre hurdle squad is unbeatable. There isn't a high jumper in the world who has quite the class of Bob King, while Barnes and Carr stand Al in the pole vault. The broad jump perhaps lacks the American balance it knew in 1924 but Ed Hamm, the world's record holder, should win and we have the added hope that De Hart Hubbard, the old champion, will return to form, giving us a one-two prospect in the pre-games calculations.

The triple-jump field is no better and no worse than it was at Paris; the shot putters are definitely better, and, it might be added, so are the foreign competitors. However, we lack a Tootell in the hammer throw, having only four average men. The javelin men are like the shot putters—better but likely to be faced with a similar improvement all around.

Speaking of the latter, we are not so good in the decathlon. This is due to two reasons. First, the injury to Fait Elkins, probably the best in the world. Second, the misunderstanding that prompted Tony Plansky to appear in hardly his best condition for the final trials. However, the discus entry, headed by Clarence Houser, Olympic champion probably is as strong as it was in the last games.

And there you have the team. It is an unusually good team and, at face value, must be figured to dispel the illusion that America wins its Olympic titles by man power rather than individual brilliance. However, one merely can wait to see what the ocean trip and the climate will do to the bright, sleek polish this team now possesses. Even the most dazzling brilliance has been known to tarnish under these circumstances.

O'MALLEY TO FIGHT FIRPO

It was announced last night that Young Firpo who beat Red Jadabird and stopped Joe Midway would battle Joe O'Malley, sensational 159 pounder. Columbus, at the Jolly bowl, in a 10 round main bout, next Monday night. O'Malley recently fought Firpo and believes he can stop the Louisville boy. An effort is being made to rematch Billy Wallace with Frankie Rio for the semi-final.

MAY USE ACREAGE AT NEW SCHOOL FOR SUMMER PLAYGROUND

If present plans materialize, it is possible that the acreage surrounding the new George Washington Junior High School will be utilized as a community playground for the North Hill.

James McConagie, landscape architect of the Pennsylvania Department of Interior has made some suggestions to the school authorities here, and it is possible that these suggestions will be carried out.

Think it over in your odd moments. Then get into the boost wagon and hit the pace.

Father And Son May Compete For Amateur Crown

(International News Service)

OAKMONT, Pittsburgh, July 11.—Prospects of a match between father and son to decide the amateur golf championship of Pennsylvania were good today as the four remaining contestants in the third day of play in the annual tournament took the field.

W. C. Fownes, Jr., and his son H. C. Fownes II, both of Oakmont, were among the four survivors, with George Flinn, Jr., of Fox Hill and J. W. Crookston of Stanton Heights. The elder Fownes is paired with Flinn and the young Fownes with Crookston.

The elder Fownes faces a struggle with his youthful opponent, who scored the outstanding upset of the tourney when he put Max Marston, Philadelphia, former national amateur champ, out of the running, 4 and 3 and then finished the day yesterday by polishing off Sam McLeod, Philadelphia, who split medalist honors the first day with W. J. (Zimmer) Platt, Philadelphia.

So far, young Flinn is the sensation of the tourney. The youngster refuses to be ruffled and shoots the course, one of the most difficult in the east, with a calm assurance that is winning him a large gallery.

Tennis Alphabet—K

By Feg Murray

Among the tennis-players who look under "K" on the club bulletin board when they want to find out if they have been posted for non-payment of dues is a small but select group headed by the Brothers Kinsey, of California, and which includes Ichiya Kumagae, of Japan, and Dr. George King and Percy Kynaston of New York.

Robert and Howard Kinsey cannot quite compare with the brothers Renshaw and Doherty, of England, as far as tennis accomplishments go, but nevertheless together they won the United States double championship in 1924, and the clay court title twice. Bob, now a member of the Mexican Davis Cup team by right of residence, was ranked sixth in 1922 and tenth in 1923, while Howard was chosen on the 1924 United States Davis Cup team and was ranked eighth in 1922, sixth in 1923, fourth in 1924 and sixth in 1925. He later turned professional and was a member of C. C. Pyle's "Lenglen Tour" in 1926-27.

Two New Yorkers who are often heard from in tennis circles are Dr. George King, tenth ranking player in 1926 and twelfth in 1927, and runner-up in two indoor doubles championships, and young Percy L. Kynaston, of Long Island, who was ranked at thirty-fourth for last year, but is bound to improve greatly in the future.

Two famous Japanese belong in the K category; Kumagae, Davis Cup player in 1921 and seventh in United States ranking that same year, and Kobayashi second in doubles ranking in his own country. Three other foreign stars are C. H. Kingsley and A. R. F. Kingscote, of England, and K. Kozeluh, of Czechoslovakia, professional champion of France.

W. P. Knapp, of Yale, was intercollegiate title-holder in 1884 and '85, and a "first-ten" player for four years. Paul Kong played on the 1928 Chinese Davis Cup team.

Speaking of ball players' names (as who was?), there are Lind and Lindstrom, Ruth and Reuther, Blue and Bluege, Grant and Grantham, Ford and Crawford, Mann and Heilmann, Farrell and O'Farrell, Atz and Statz, Wright and Wrightstone, Simmons and Fitzsimmons, May and Mays, Hart and Hartnett, Berg and Walberg, Hill and Whitehill, and "Ty" and Tyler.

Stoy Stops Phil Verde In Sixth

Left To Solar Plexus Sends Verde Down For Ten; Wallace Deserves Draw With Rio In Sensational Fight; Porto And Boychan Please Fans With Fast Exhibition, Featured by Hard Punching; Pacelli Stops Murphy In Second; McManus And Kaplan Go Four Rounds To Draw, But Terry Deserves Decision

By ED. FRITZ

Fistic fans of New Castle and various other cities in the Tri-State district will not soon forget the five classy bouts which were staged last night at the Jolly bowl where Rosy Stoy stopped Phil Verde in the sixth round of the main bout. Not one bout on the card lacked action and while Stoy and Verde milled in what was supposed to be the star attraction, there were two other fights on the card that overshadowed the main battle.

They were the fights between Frankie Rio, Cleveland and Billy Wallace, Youngstown and the 'go' between Frankie Porto, Midland and Joe Boychan, Newark, O., all junior lightweights. While the judges, the Two Toms, awarded the decision to Rio over Wallace, the writer believes that a better decision would have been a draw. Porto defeated Boychan but the battle teemed with class.

Another battle which pleased the flock of fans who trotted into the big saucer was the Romeo Pacelli-Joe Murphy four round tidbit of action and Romeo laid away the junior lightweight from Youngstown in the second round.

Kaplan Wrestles

Jimmie Kaplan of Youngstown and Terry McManus milled in the second preliminary. The four rounds were fast but Kaplan wrestled and naturally this had a tendency to mar the bout. The judges called the bout a draw but Kaplan lost.

When Stoy and Verde clambered through the ropes the fans set up a din of noise and when the bell sounded Verde sprang into action and before the first was over had assumed the aggressive and nailed Stoy with some healthy rights to the chin.

They moved like panthers in the second and exchanged hard blows to head and body. Verde made the southpaw miss repeatedly and Stoy's celebrated left seemed conspicuous by its ability to miss its objective.

Works on Stomach

In the third Stoy went to work on Verde's stomach and his left hand landed several times after which they stood and punched to the head. Stoy, who had lost the first two rounds, received an even break.

Stoy's left beat Verde's right for the chin in the fourth and Verde staggered in the middle of the ring. Rosy followed his advantage and drove Verde to the ropes. Verde sent a right to the stomach that stopped Stoy's assault temporarily.

After Verde got away from the ropes Stoy caught him with a left to the stomach that sent the Rochester flash flying into the ropes but before Stoy could follow up the advantage the bell sounded but the punch sapped some of Verde's stamina.

Nerves Paralyzed

When the fifth bell rang Phil sent a right to the jaw. They slugged in the center and Verde broke ground. Stoy went after him and gave him a good pasting and a left to the jaw had him going but the bell came to his rescue.

They stepped forth in the sixth with Stoy on the aggressive. Verde slipped into a corner and Stoy drew an ovation from the fans for helping him up and not nailing him. They worked around the ring, each punching fast.

Stoy sent his right to the head and followed with a terrific left to the jaw. As Verde stepped in to deliver a right to the chin Stoy beat him with a left that landed in the pit of the stomach, dumping Verde.

The blow landed in the nerve center and it produced temporary paralysis. Verde was on his knees but could not arise. A sharp pain cut across his abdomen and while he was trying to get up Referee Chip counted ten.

Fight Like Fiends

Rio and Wallace fought like two fiends in the semi-final of six rounds. Frankie was the more clever but Wallace toted a terrible right hand which missed often. However, they slugged each other all over the ring.

After the great fourth round the bell sounded but the junior lightweights continued to slug each other and Referee Chip had to part the combatants. In the fifth they worked hard and both tried for a knockout.

The sixth found Rio rushing after Wallace and trying to beat him to the floor and it was a three minute session of nothing but flying fists. The judges gave the bout to Rio, probably because Wallace held and hit.

Porto Goes Big

Frankie Porto, a clever, flashy junior lightweight, who wants to fight anybody the matchmaker picks, and Joe Boychant went over big. It was a six round bout in which class told and it was a fight which the fans liked.

Romeo Pacelli showed by his knockout of Joe Murphy that he has improved. He boxed nicely and timed his punching in such a way that his left never let Joe get set. He flopped the Murphy gentleman in the second of a good fight.

The postponement from Monday night hurt attendance but 1,500 fans were in the seats when the show was started. As usual there were a large number of ladies. Bill Jolly promoted the show and the writer made the matches.

Croton M. E. Beats First Christians

Heavy Hitting Of Croton M. E. Team Makes Possible A 6 To 5 Victory

One lone run in the sixth inning was all that saved the First Christian church baseball team from a complete whitewashing at the hands of the Croton Methodists Tuesday evening at Scotland Lane field. At the end of the game, the score stood 6 to 1 in favor of Croton.

Blaine of Croton and Sargent of the First Christians had quite a race for strikeout honors. At the end of the game, Blaine had struck out six men, while Sargent had accounted for five. Both pitchers gave three bases on balls. Bentley officiated.

LEON GOSLIN

Leon Allen "Goose" Goslin, Washington Senators' outfielder, was born at Salem, N. J., October 16, 1901.

The Goose started his pro baseball career with Columbia of the Sally league in 1920, but his terrific hitting got him a berth with the Senators the very next year.

Since that time the Goose has been slamming the apple for a .331 average. His fielding has fallen off quite a bit this season, but as he leads the American league hitters his job in the Senator garden seems cinched.

In the two world series in which he participated Goslin hit for an average of .326.

Cards Leading In National

Cinci And St. Louis Are At Top Of Heap; New York Falls

BRUCE CALDWELL IN INDIAN LINEUP

By LES CONKLIN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 11.—Six National League clubs are "seeing red" today, for two teams sporting crimson garb are leading the pack with the jump of the Cincinnati Reds to second place. The Reds' winning streak of seven games has put them ahead of the New York Giants while the St. Louis Red Birds, 4½ games ahead of Cincinnati, have dropped only one game to the eastern invaders during their present home stand.

All the eastern teams except Brooklyn are being taken to the clearner's with neatness and dispatch by the western outfits, and an even break is the best the Dodgers have been able to get.

Home runs are keeping the Cardinals in front. The club leads the league in this specialty with a total of 67 for the season, fourteen more than the Giants and sixteen more than the Cubs. Four circuit clouts—two by High, a substitute, and one apiece by Hafey and Harper—and a five-hit performance by spitting Clarence Mitchell gave the Cards a 5 to 1 win over the Giants yesterday.

When the Reds jeered at the horrible fielding of the Brooklyn players, pitcher Buzz McWeeney lost both his control and his self-control and tried to beat up the whole Porkville team. He was led off the field mumbling the alphabet backwards. Meanwhile Pete Donohue finally got a good game out of his system and the Reds breezed home to a 12 to 4 victory.

The Phillies and Braves again lost by a one-run margin. Singles by big and little poison Waner in the ninth gave the Pirates a 6 to 5 verdict over the Phils, their fourth straight win.

Pitcher Kent Greenfield of the Braves, the original Kentucky wild man, walked five men in the fifth when the Cubs scored six runs. Hornsby's 16th homer tied it up in the ninth, but the Cubs grabbed a 7 to 6 decision on Hartnett's single.

By taking both twins of a twin bill from Cleveland, 9 to 5 and 9 to 0, Washington passed Chicago and tied the Indians for fourth place. Cleveland couldn't hit Gaston in the pinches in the nightcap and had fourteen men left on bases.

Cleveland is giving Bruce Caldwell, former Yale star, a chance at first base. He got his first hit in the big league.

The veteran Frank O'Rourke, who has replaced young Larry Bettencourt at third base for the St. Louis Browns, drove in three runs and scored another as the Browns trimmed the Red Sox, 4 to 2.

Chalk Up New Mound Star for Yankees

By JACK SORDS
Sports Cartoonist-Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

The Yankees are, of course, the strongest team in baseball, but—to make matters worse for the other clubs—they are getting stronger.

Having such stalwarts as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri, Mark Koenig, Bob Meusel, Earl Combs, Cy Moore, Herb Pennock, Waite Hoyt and such equally capable substitutes as Cedric Durst, Leo Durocher and a few others wasn't enough, apparently, for the Yanks.

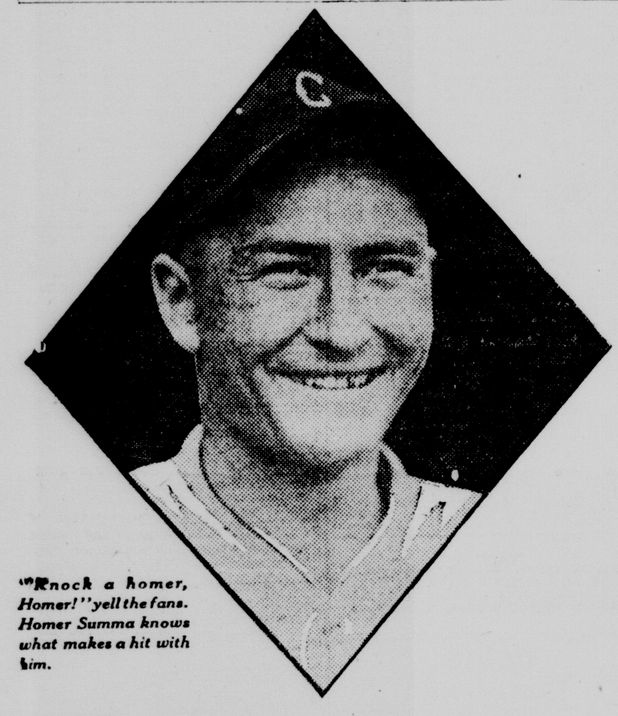
Before the season was half over they had to uncover a young right-handed sensation of a pitcher in Henry Johnson, who came to the club from Milwaukee.

Johnson's rise with the Yanks this season has been a rapid one. He copped 18 games with Milwaukee last season, so Miller Huggins figured it was about time he was turned to profit for New York.

So far this season Johnson has proven his worth with the champions. And it was luckily, so, as his unexpected work has nicely balanced the loss the Yankees felt when Urban Shocker failed to come through.

Johnson has a good fast ball and a sharp breaking curve, in addition to a physique and stamina that go to make up a fine, durable pitcher. He now has only to learn how to conserve his strength by developing a slow ball. After that he should take his place with the best hurlers in the business.

The best part about Johnson is that every time he wins he not only boosts the Yankee percentage, but he learns something new and becomes a better pitcher.



"Knock a homer, Homer!" yell the fans. Homer Summa knows what makes a hit with him.

Batting Duel Is Feature Of Game

In what appeared to be a batting duel, the First Baptist church team in the Church league, amassed five more runs than the Hakoah club when it was defeated Tuesday evening at Lehigh field to the tune of 17 to 12. Evans, the shortstop of the Baptist team, was the star of the game when he batted out a home run.

It was in the first inning that the Baptist steam roller got under way when six runs were scored. Only in the fifth inning was the scoring stopped and that was only temporarily.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

Ed Morris, rookie pitcher of the Boston Red Sox, is one of the outstanding figures of the American league season—and one of the reasons why Carrigan's Kids are the talk of the league.

And Ed Morris is also one of the reasons for scouts in baseball.

Morris, in his first year as a major league hurler, is flirting with a .667 average in games won. Which is a sweet average for any pitcher, with any kind of a team.

And the layman, looking over Morris' record with the Mobile club of the Southern league last season, might be prone to ask "how come?"

The Mobile club finished fifth in its circuit last year, with a won and lost average of .438. Morris, a regular pitcher all season, wound up the campaign with won and lost average of .469. Nothing impressive in that. Won a total of 15 games and lost 17.

He led the league by a wide margin in wildness—with a total of 131 bases on balls. It must be said in his defense, however, that he was the hardest working pitcher in the league, hurling a total of some 298 innings. He ranked down in the list in effectiveness, however. He allowed 1.96 earned runs a game, a total of 131 for the season, ranking second in the total number of runs charged against the various pitchers. He led the league in total runs scored on him, as well, although the mediocre fielding of the team had much to do with that.

As far as records are concerned he did not stand out—might well have been ranked as just a mediocre pitcher.

The Red Sox scouts, however, saw in him the makings of a good pitcher. He had a fast ball, for one thing. That fast ball caused him some trouble in the minors. It wandered much of the time. The scouts felt that control would come, however. Apparently it has. And the speed of his fast one is compared to that of Lefty Grove of the Athletics.

Morris had a "head," too. He absorbed pitching points readily. This report came from the Mobile club. Carrigan, Red Sox scouts knew, could teach him baseball if anyone could.

Then there was another angle.

It is baseball history that many a fair minor league player has found himself only after being tossed into major league company. The Red Sox bosses took a chance there, too.

Apparently Morris was of this type.

In his first four efforts with the Red Sox he won three games, allowed 21 hits and less than two runs a game.

He hasn't won himself a place among the established pitching stars of the big show. It takes more than half a season to "place" a pitcher. But he seems well on the road to fame—barring the unforseen.

The Woman Driver

I like to drive with Champion Spark Plugs because I know I'll not be annoyed with engine trouble due to faulty spark plugs.

Champion is the better spark plug because it has an exclusive sillimanite insulator specially treated to withstand the much higher temperatures of the modern high-compression engine. Also a new patented solid copper gasket-seal that remains absolutely gas-tight under high compression. Special analysis electrodes which assure a fixed spark-gap under all driving conditions.

South Hill Team Gets Three Hits

Are Decisively Defeated By Mahonings To A 14 To 2 Score Tuesday Evening

Holding his opponents to three hits while his team mates pounded out 14 Calvert, pitcher of the Mahoning team of the Twilight league figured largely in the victory which his team scored over South Hill at South Hill Tuesday evening. The final score was 14 to 2 favoring Mahoning.

J. Picano also of the Mahoning team knocked a three base hit. Calvert only gave one base on balls. Morgan and Martin were the officials.

Hurt In Accident In Beaver County

(International News Service)

BADEN, Pa., July 11.—Suffering a fractured skull received when the automobile in which he was riding struck an abutment and overturned on a road near Stoops Ferry, Townsend Mahoney of Baden was reported in a serious condition in Sewickley Valley hospital today.

Several other persons, riding with Mahoney at the time, suffered only slight injuries.

If he is rich enough to scorn a second-hand car, his wife probably has a passion for second-hand furniture.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 11.—Industrial stocks were thrown on the market in the first hour today as the result of the raising of the Chicago Reserve bank's rate to 5 per cent, which in the Wall street view foreshadowed similar action by the directors of the New York bank. General Motors started the day at 193, down 5½ points from Tuesday's close, but a powerful buying movement credited to the country's strongest financial interests, soon whipped that stock along to above 197, where practically all of the loss had been recovered. Sharp rallies were also in order in other market leaders.

Raising of the Chicago rate brings the rediscount rate to the highest level since 1922 and is apparently justified by the rapid decline in the ratio of reserves to total resources of the Reserve banks. Too much bank credit has been employed in stock speculation, of that there can be no doubt, but it is not so clear how the Reserve Board heads can bring about their deflation program.

New losses of 2 to 4 points were sustained by a number of the high priced specialties at the opening, but in most cases these were the lowest prices of the period either the stocks recovered promptly or they failed to appear on the tape. United States Steel was again under selling pressure and made about the poorest resistance to bearish selling. Stocks of the big mercantile establishments like Woolworth and Montgomery Ward were in demand on reports of gratifying increases in current business and net profits in the second quarter of the year.

The call renewal rate was posted at 6 per cent, with funds freely provided at that rate. Grain markets were again irregular, with corn the strongest member of the family.

Sailor Will Be Taken With Byrd

George Kelly, "Old Salt", Will Go On South Pole Expidition

(International News Service)

BOSTON, July 11.—After forty years of seafaring on sailing vessels in all corners of the world, George Kelly, veteran first officer of the Yankee Line, intends to go adventuring." He has just signed a contract with Commander Richard Byrd to sail to the South Pole in August with the latter's queerly devised sailing ship, the Samson.

First Officer Kelly will act in that capacity on the southward journey of the ship. He will return to New York as commander of the Samson and then set sail before southern breezes with additional supplies for the Byrd expedition.

African Church Bans Short Skirts

Lid Is Clamped On Dancing By Dutch Reformed Church Of South Africa

(International News Service)

CAPETOWN, July 11.—Dancing, short skirts and face powder are banned by the Dutch Reformed church of South Africa.

"Dancing," according to some leaders of that church, "leads straight to hell."

Proposals are now being made to excommunicate church members who refuse to give up dancing. This means the refusal of all the sacraments, including marriage and baptism.

Special forms of "modest dress" for women are to be advocated. And fierce attacks are made on girls who use powder or rouge.

Train Wreck Breaks Over 150,000 Eggs

(International News Service)

ROME, July 11.—The world's largest omelette was made recently on a railway line at the station of Sassuole, when a collision occurred between a freight train and a light engine.

The crates which contained 150,000 eggs were smashed by the violence of the shock and partially cooked by the steam escaping from the engine.

Small French Town Records No Births

No Wine, No Children, Becomes Slogan Of Inhabitants Of Milly

(International News Service)

CHABLIS, July 11.—"No wine, no children" is the motto of the townfolk of Milly, near here. For the good people in Milly live by wine-growing, and when the grapes fail, as they have during the last three years, money becomes scarce. For over two years there has not been a single birth recorded in Milly.

Hence there is talk of pulling up the grapes, replacing them with buckwheat. If this proposal carries among the landowners, there is hope that the nativity in Milly will take a jump from nothing to something.

Already, announces the mayor, electricity and running water have been installed, but even these adjuncts to modern civilization do not encourage young people to settle in Milly and rear families.

Failing a good grape harvest, nothing but buckwheat will boast the nativity, concludes the mayor.

That true love is a thing of the past is now universally conceded by all intelligent people who are old and sour and disappointed.

Tells Of Motor Club Benefits

Chairman Ralph Bolsinger Discusses Club Benefits To Motorists

CAMPAIGN MAKES GOOD PROGRESS

What the New Castle Motor club is, and what it will do for each member was explained this morning by Ralph W. Bolsinger, the general chairman of the drive committee, which is now under way, its object being to get 5,000 members for the club as a permanent, living memorial to David Jameson, the founder of the local organization.

"The New Castle Motor club was organized in 1906, and since that time, it has rendered many and valuable services to the community in its efforts for good roads," says Mr. Bolsinger. "However, there has been a development in the services offered by the motor clubs as there has been in the automobile business itself.

"The club, through its affiliations, has reciprocal privileges with 98 other clubs in Pennsylvania and 1057 in the United States and Canada. What the club has done is to make its privileges and services uniform with the best of these clubs.

"In addition to the services it has rendered, the New Castle club has added emergency road service, which means that the members of the club will receive aid when broken down on the highway, and if necessary, after a 30 minute mechanical service, the car will be towed to a garage. Ten miles of towing are received free of charge. Free legal advice will be given to the members by a competent attorney. Each member will receive $1,000 personal automobile accident insurance policy. Cards of introduction to hotels are also furnished. The membership card is a credit ticket with any telegraph station in the United States or Canada.

"The state organization, the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, guarantees a 24 hour service in title and license difficulties, and the Three A emblem brings courtesy from other members and officials throughout the United States. Each member receives every month the American Motorist, official organ of the American Automobile association, and one of the best touring magazines upon application to the headquarters. There is no charge for this service. Routings are given, even in 23 foreign countries. In addition there are many other services such as free notary public service.

"Lawrence county has about 19,000 motorists. At least one half of these should be members of this organization. Its headquarters are in The Castleton building, where members are given the advantages of best room facilities."

Ready To Place Furniture In New School In August

Linoleum Down On Floors Of More Than Third Of Rooms Now

Over one third of all the class rooms in the new George Washington Junior High school have linoleum on the floors and the blinds hung according to a statement received this morning from J. Clyde Gilfillan contractor in charge of construction of the building.

All of the class rooms are expected to be completed by the end of July contiues Mr. Gilfillan and the school district will begin to place the furniture in the rooms the first week in August.

After the class rooms are completed the men doing the finishing will begin to work on the cafeteria, gymnasium and library. At the present time the plastering has been completed in the cafeteria, the kitchen and the arts department. Plastering of the gymnasium will take place next week.

On the exterior of the building all brick work has been completed with the exception of one lone stone on top of the chimney. The stone which was to have been used in this place was damaged in shipment. Another has been ordered from Indiana.

Hospital Roofers Have Hot Job

Who has the hottest job in the summer, is a moot question, which never can be settled with any degree of finality, but your correspondent begs to state that in his opinion, the men who today are working on the roof of the Jameson Memorial hospital, located on West Leasure avenue, make a strong bid for the title.

The work on the roof is well toward completion, and the men are glad. And when one notes the construction of the covering of the building, the why can be seen. Part of the roof is five ply and the rest is six. Imbedded in a layer of hot asphalt, there are two layers of cellotex. Then comes one ply of forty pound felt, and then three more layers of 15 pound felt, lapped so that they make four plys. The hop of this is mopped with hot asphalt.

Over the main part of the roof (that which is not occupied by open wards) there is a layer of slate covered felt on top of the last asphalt. In the roof wards, the last coating of asphalt is covered with concrete and tiles to make a floor.

In the interior of the building, metal lathers have the first floor almost ready to plaster, and on the second and third floors the interior partitions are completed, with the ones on the other storeys practically finished.

Contracts have been let to the Otis Elevator company for two elevators with automatic leveling devices so that they will stop level with the floor. As a donation to the hospital, the company contributed one of these devices.

The last story brick work is now going up on the nurses home, and all that remains is for the roof to be placed. The door bucks have been set on the first floor for partitions, the windows are being caulked and a clothes chute has been installed.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

There's one sure source of conversation these torrid days, a subject that has never been fully developed nor will it ever be, the heat. Each day brings new angles of conversation, and each degree higher brings back reminiscences of days that were warmer.

George Jones did the reminiscing yesterday. George is a locomotive engineer so that heat is nothing new to him but yesterday had him talking about it at least.

As we headed over to the west side he hiked back in memory to February, 1896, when as a young man he attended the convention of railroad firemen which was held in Galveston, Texas.

"Sure was hot" mused George. "When we went into the convention hall we took off our coats and vests, took off our collars and ties, opened our shirts and took off our shoes. That was a hot convention."

Found a couple of friends who agree with me, at least upon the scenic beauty of the Slippery Rock creek district. Three of us spent a little time in a mutual admiration society, extolling the beauties of the Slippery Rock and the Muddy Creek. Some day, upon the advice of the others, I'm going to hike the trails clear down the Slippery Rock.

Wonder if Lawrence county wouldn't be doing a smart thing if it followed the example of Allegheny county and bought up a lot of land like that for scenic spots for the county. Allegheny county recently bought several thousand acres of similar land that is to be used by the people for breathing spots.

Beautiful as those spots are along the Slippery Rock and the Muddy Creek, they might be closed to the public some day if the private owners decided to do so. The property would not cost such a lot if bought for public purposes and it would be preserved always for the coming generations.

People outside of Lawrence county are beginning to realize the beauty of those spots out there. Last Sunday a motor hike out of Pittsburgh took in the Muddy Creek district and pictures accompanied the article describing it.

The last thing we want out there is a lot of amusements, or amusement parks. As it stands now it is a retreat where one can get away from the noise and jar of the city. Putting amusements out there would be like painting a mahogany chair with yellow ochre.

Heard one chap describing how as a boy he had put some of the fish in the Muddy Creek on a spree. Mixing alcohol with flour he threw some of the dough balls into the water and for the next half hour the tiniest minnow wanted to rush out and tackle a carp.

The climbing roses this year seem to be particularly havy. Up on West Washington street, Bill Ray has a mass of climbers on his front porch that are gorgeous. The blooms are so thick they seem to be pushing the leaves out of the way and the color of them is worth stopping to see.

Another thing that seems to be unusually fruitful this year is currants, both black and red. A black currant has nothing much in the way of taste to recommend it but made into jam its a prize. A red currant on the other hand looks good, tastes good raw or cooked, and surely does go fine with roast turkey. Hugh Beck out on Arlington avenue has an exceptional crop of both black and red currants this year.

It's pound foolish and penny wise to buy anything but a pure, stainless and fragrant insecticide spray for the home. Insist on

Aged Farmer Is Called By Death

OIL CITY, Pa., July 11.—Miles Wells, 69, a farmer living near Curllsville, Clarion county, was instantly killed when lightning struck a tree under which he had taken shelter. He was harrowing his buckwheat field when the storm began and went beneath the tree.

An hour later, when he was missed, his family started a search for him and found his body under the tree which had been struck

Youthful Bandits Confess To Police

Found Motorists Easy Picking, But May Find The Law Much More Severe

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 11.—Two youthful desperadoes, alleged to have compelled four Uniontown residents to dance barefooted, today confessed to numerous holdups, according to County Detective A. A. Downing.

The youths, Harry Nickel and James Adey of Hutchinson, are said to have admitted that they found motorists "easy picking" since in many instances they failed to report the robberies to police.

A machine occupied by Mrs. Ethel Cook, a widow; Miss Mary Bryson, Jay Gibson and Dick Koentz stopped near the youths' hiding place recently. The two young men stepped out on the party and compelled them to remove their shoes and stockings and rig after they had robbed them of jewelry and cash. The loot was recovered in a nearby cabin, police say.

The most searching comment on this companionate age is on the want-ad page: "Diamond rings to rent."
